

Yankees Square World Series With Dodgers, 6-2

Sturdivant Stops Brooklyn On Six Safeties

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP) — Tom Sturdivant, almost released by the club in May, squared the World Series for the New York Yankees at two games each with a strong six-hit victory over Brooklyn today 6-2 with the help of home runs by Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer.

The 26-year-old righthander from Oklahoma City an infielder in the minors, blew his fast ball and low breaking curve past the Dodgers in the best pitching job of the series.

Brooklyn threatened all during the sunny afternoon as Sturdivant got himself in hot water with his walks. Finally in the ninth he teetered on the brink as manager Casey Stengel made two trips to the mound with the bases loaded.

One run was in on Roy Campanella's fly ball single in to short left with the bases full and the bases still were choked when Stengel went to confer with his pitcher the second time. The crowd cheered as old Case decided to let him stay after delivering a friendly pat on the bottom of Tom's pin-striped trousers.

Randy Jackson came up to bat for pitcher Don Drysdale with a grand slam homer needed to tie the score. A base hit would have sent Sturdivant hustling to a shower.

With the count 2-0 on Jackson, Sturdivant slipped past a third strike that caught the pinch hitter looking. He objected mildly as he strode away, tossing his bat from hand to hand in annoyance at umpire Larry Napp's call.

That left matters squarely up to Junior Gilliam who had gone hitless. The Dodger second baseman lifted a high fly to center that Mantle easily gathered in for the game-ending out.

In the first, second and third innings, Sturdivant walked the first man up. In the fifth, Brooklyn had men on first and second with nobody out when a double play helped Tom off the hook.

But the real jam was the ninth. Jackie Robinson led off with a double to left center. Sturdivant made Gil Hodges swing at a changeup to become his sixth strikeout victim.

Working carefully on Sandy Amoros, the pitcher finally walked him on the 3-2 pitch. Carl Furillo took him to 5-1 and also walked, loading the bases. This brought Stengel from the bench to talk with his pitcher and catcher Yogi Berra.

Campanella's high fly, apparently lost against the Stadium background for a moment by Enos Slaughter, dropped in front of the charging left fielder for a single, scoring Robinson. Amoros stopped at third.

Kunkletown Boy Second In Contest

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., Oct. 7 (AP) — Eugene Moser, 16, of Kunkletown, R. D. 2, Montgomery County, won the 4-H state tractor driving contest in competition from 36 counties at Pennsylvania State University yesterday.

He and four runners up in the contest will compete at the State Farm Show in Harrisburg next January.

Second place winner was William R. Altomere, 16, Kunkletown, R. D. 2, Montgomery County; Roy T. Sulouff, 16, Northumberland R. D. 1, was third; Lloyd L. Kildoo, 17, New Castle R. D. 4, was fourth, and George R. Thebes, 2, New Bloomfield, R. D. 1, Perry County, was fifth.

The sixth and seventh place winners will be eligible to compete in the farm show as alternates.

They are Neal Hadsell, 14, Springboro R. D. 1, Crawford County, and Elwood Buss Jr., 17, Nazareth R. D. 1, Northampton County.

Farmer Found Dead

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP) — August Reinhardt, 87, a retired farmer, was found dead today after fire destroyed his two-story frame home in nearby Montague Twp., N. J. The fire broke out last night and swiftly leveled the building, where Reinhardt lived alone.

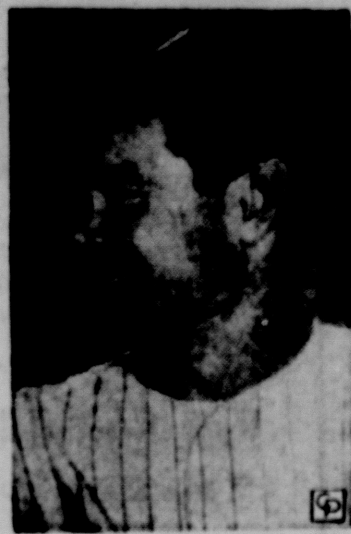

Eisenhower To Make Second Campaign Visit To Pennsylvania During Tuesday's Address

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7 (AP) — President Eisenhower will make his second campaign visit to Pennsylvania Tuesday for a major address at Harrisburg.

The President will be the second member of the Republican national ticket to appear in the commonwealth within a week. Vice President Nixon spoke in Philadelphia last Wednesday.

Eisenhower opened his campaign for re-election at his Gettysburg farm last Sept. 12 with a rally for GOP campaign workers.

In a campaign address at Harrisburg last week, Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, said Eisenhower made a "gross misstatement of the record" in saving the GOP should

Committee Discourages Contributions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP) — The activities of a Senate watchdog subcommittee that has been keeping an eye on political campaign funds were reported by the chairman today to have discouraged some big contributors to both parties.

"Some of the money raisers of both national committees have complained that the action of the subcommittee has 'dried up' some of the expected large contributions," said Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), head of the group.

On the other hand, Gore said subcommittee hearings have "had a major part in encouraging thousands of people to make small campaign contributions to both the Democratic and Republican national committees." He indicated he thought this was a good trend.

Gore discussed the work of the Privileges and Elections subcommittee as he called 21 witnesses for three days of public testimony beginning tomorrow.

He told a reporter: "I feel strongly that it is healthier for both political parties to receive many small contributions than to depend upon a relatively few major ones. The public interest is safeguarded, too, with small contributions."

Gore reported "remarkably good cooperation" in the reporting of campaign contributions and spending "from more than 20 political committees." These include the national Democratic and Republican committees, state committees of both major parties, and a large number of independent political committees that are actively participating in the 1956 campaign.

He said witnesses Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will include spokesmen for political groups, labor and business organizations and tax and Justice Department officials who enforce existing laws dealing with campaign spending and accounting.

Also testifying will be the chairmen of the Republican and Democratic national committees, spokesmen for advertising agencies handling their campaigns and other groups.

Polio Causes Death

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7 (AP) — Dr. Kermit Leitner, head of the contagious disease annex at Harrisburg Hospital, yesterday reported the death from polio of Corena Solomon, 14, of Steelton. She was the second person to die of the disease at the hospital this year.

Brownell Releases Red Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell in a report to President Eisenhower today termed as of "historic import" recent admissions by Communist leaders in the United States that prosperity and law enforcement have had a "highly disruptive" effect on their movement.

He cautioned, however, that these Red leaders will "fool no one" by their proposed new party line seeking to "divert public attention by now claiming allegiance to the United States and purporting to sever their ties with the Soviet Union."

"Nor will they trick this country into relaxing its vigilance," said the Brownell report, made public by the White House.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerly said Eisenhower asked Brownell to detail for him what this administration has done in the anti-Communist enforcement field, after seeing newspaper excerpts of a resolution to be submitted to the Communist party's national convention next February by its National Committee.

Hagerly gave reporters, along with the Brownell memorandum, photostatic copies of the lengthy excerpts as printed in The New York Times Sept. 23. He said the President was "very pleased" with the memo and the work of the government in this anti-Communist field as outlined by Brownell.

The Communist resolution said U. S. governmental prosecutions, probes and other activities against Reds were designed to destroy the Communist party. It said that while the party was not destroyed it had been weakened and isolated and is confronted with a "critical situation."

It also said the party is "not subject to any external allegiance or discipline either of an organizational or political character."

Brownell described as "pronouncements of 'unusual significance'" this "draft resolution" and 2 what he called an admission by William Z. Foster, titular head of the party in this country, in a Daily Worker article Aug. 26, that prosperity here had done more to restrict the growth of Communists in the United States than any other factor.

Pronouncements

"These pronouncements," Brownell said, "are not in the usual category of Communist party propaganda statements because they are admissions against their own interest. In other words, it is not likely that these Communists have painted the picture of their present plight worse than it is."

Brownell repeated figures on prosecutions and other actions which the department has published before. He said the effectiveness of the federal employee security program, which has come under attack from some Democrats, is acknowledged by the Communists in their resolution.

Durante To Be Married

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 7 (AP) — Comedian Jimmie Durante, 63, originator of the slogan, "Good-night, Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are," left for Hollywood today with Margie Little, 35, of Plainville, N.J., a prospective successor to the mysterious woman.

Miss Little, Hollywood Actress, said the couple plans a wedding some time next year. Durante confirmed the statement.

GOP candidate for auditor general, said Gov. Leader recognized what Smith called "a good Republican law" when he placed 3,500 mental institution jobs under civil service.

George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, said Stevenson "lacks the judgement and the experience to be president of the United States."

And in another statement, Bloom said the Leader administration is what Bloom called "the most extravagant and wasteful administration the state has ever had."

The GOP chairman said Gov. Leader "is already in the hole by 75 million dollars and has to go out and borrow that much just to keep the schools open."

Fire Strikes East Stroudsburg Store Damage High In Renovated Basement

DAMAGE estimated at "several thousand dollars" was caused early Saturday morning when fire ripped through the basement of East Stroudsburg Hardware Co.

The store had been newly renovated and redecorated. Alarm for the fire was turned in at 8:55 a.m. Saturday.

Members of Acme Hose Co. fought through dense smoke and flames for two hours, finally brought the blaze completely under control.

Blame for the blaze could apparently be settled on an "overheated furnace" in the basement of the store, firemen said. The furnace was used only part-time to "take the chill off" the building in early morning and evenings in the Fall, firemen said.

Owner of the store is Clifford B. Munsell, 105 Crystal St. He is currently on vacation in Florida, relatives told firemen. The blaze was discovered by relatives.

Narrow Escape

Firemen said the blaze could have been much worse than it turned out to be — six drums of turpentine stored in the basement did not catch fire or explode.

Fire company officials said main floor timbers were charred in the blaze. They said boxes and papers stored near the furnace apparently caught fire when it became overheated. The basement area was used as a storage space for merchandise.

In their two-hour battle with the fire, the volunteers were forced to use gas-smoke masks. Because they were unable to get lines into the basement area which contained most of the actual fire, they had to cut holes in the main storeroom floor. A hole was knocked in the brick wall of the basement room to enable firemen to throw additional water on the flames.

Flames did not actually reach into the second and third floors of the three-story building. But water and smoke damage on each of these floors would probably prove "high," a fire company spokesman indicated.

Lutherans To Feature Convention

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7 (AP) — The United Lutheran Church in America opens its week-long 20th biennial convention Wednesday for discussion of integration, marriage, divorce, pensions and parochial schools.

The church is the largest Lutheran body in the country and has 2 1/2 million members in 32 synods in Canada and the United States. Some 707 lay and clerical delegates are expected for the third session to be held in Pennsylvania in denomination history.

The week's activities will open with a communion service Wednesday morning led by Dr. F. Epling Reinartz of New York City, secretary of the church. The sermon will be delivered by Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, also of New York, church president.

Other subjects to be brought before the convention include a promise more than 25 million dollars; election of a president, secretary and treasurer; and adoption of a "double apportionment" for the 1958-1959 biennium as recommended by the last convention at Toronto.

Dr. Fry believes that the convention will be called upon to make more "far reaching" decisions than any in recent history. Delegates will consider two major stands on theological questions, one dealing with marriage and divorce and the other defining the position of the church on segregation within the church.

VFW Sets Meeting Dates

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7 (AP) — The Pennsylvania Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will meet at Harrisburg next July 10-13 for its 38th annual convention.

The VFW administrative council selected the date and place for the meeting yesterday.

UNDERGROUND MANEUVERS were needed Saturday morning to fight fire which broke out in basement of East Stroudsburg Hardware Co. Damage was estimated "in the thousands" by officials. Firemen fought blaze for two hours. Alarm came in at 8:55 a. m. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Pope Innocent XI Beatified In Rome

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 7 (AP) — Pope Innocent XI was beatified today in a glittering ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica.

Innocent XI died nearly 200 years ago. His modern-day successor, Pope Pius XII, hailed him as a humble man who dared to stand against the mightiest ruler of his time, King Louis XIV of France.

His time, said the pontiff, was much like that of the present — "an age which, like his own, is marked by urgent need for spiritual rebirth, by the gravity and vital nature of its disputes, by enormous dangers which threaten all."

The pontiff's words were carried to the basilica and to the world by Vatican radio. He began speaking immediately after his own papal brief had been read in the basilica proclaiming Innocent XI beatified.

Lights Flash

At that instant thousands of electric lights flashed in the red damask-draped basilica. Golden drapes were drawn from a crystal coffin that held the pontiff's body, which was placed on the altar of the basilica.

The pontiff's body was removed from its burial place in St. Peter's last May for recognition—a step in the process for beatification. Now, in its crystal casket, it will be placed permanently at the altar of St. Sebastian in the basilica, where it will be visible.

Stevenson Urges Americans To Reject 'Complacency'

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson today urged Americans to reject "complacency and indifference" until lands and liberties are restored "to millions enslaved throughout the world."

In a statement before a small but enthusiastic audience in the reviewing stand of New York's 26th annual Pulaski Day parade, Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, declared:

"We reaffirm our allegiance and our faith in the cause of free Poland and the restoration of the rights and privileges of her people."

Attendance

While Stevenson's attendance at the parade had been scheduled, his remarks were unexpected. He spoke into a Radio Free Europe microphone, recording his words for broadcast behind the Iron Curtain.

The morning's rain had given way to bright sunshine as the colorful procession honoring the Polish hero of America's Revolution moved up Fifth Avenue.

For Stevenson the parade meant the approaching end of a six-day campaign swing through the East. He left later for his farm home at Libertyville, Ill., to prepare for a trek to the Far West next Tuesday.

Coincidentally with his foreign policy statement today, Stevenson drafted a quartet of top young Democratic campaigners — two governors and two senators—to help his drive for California's 32 critically important electoral votes.

The four will join Stevenson in Oakland, Calif., for the unique "flying porch" drive outlined by Stevenson's aides last week. The object is to saturate the state in one day with the Democratic story.

The four are Govs. Robert B. Meyner, of New Jersey, and George M. Leader, of Pennsylvania, and Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minnesota and Albert M. Gore, of Tennessee.

They will meet the candidate at a big rally in Oakland next Thursday night.

Truman To Tour In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Oct. 7 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman comes to Pennsylvania this week for a round of tours and speeches in and around Pittsburgh.

He will be joined on the Monday and Tuesday visit by the Democratic statewide candidates headed by Joseph S. Clark, nominee for U. S. Senate, Gov. Leader, however, will not be on hand for the trip.

Thomas K. Hodges, Leader's press secretary, said the Governor has scheduled a five-minute coast-to-coast television appearance in Washington tomorrow night in the "Dollars for Democrats" fund raising drive.

Appearance

The Truman appearance will be the second of a high national Democratic leader in Pennsylvania within a week. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, conducted a one-day whistle-stop tour of the state last Wednesday.

Truman will kick off his two days in Pennsylvania with a major political address at Oakland Carnegie Music Hall in Pittsburgh Monday night.

Fawzi To Give Side Of Argument

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles tonight appeared to be acting as go-between in efforts of the Western Powers to negotiate a settlement of their Suez Canal quarrel with Egypt.

Dulles talked privately with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain. He presumably informed Lloyd of what Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi told him in a half-hour conversation Friday night.

Foreign Minister Christian Pineau of France also is here for U. N. Security Council meetings on issues arising out of Egypt's July 26 nationalization of the Suez Canal.

But of the Big Three Western foreign ministers, only Dulles has had a private talk with Fawzi.

Speech

Fawzi will make an hour-long speech on Egypt's position to the 11-nation council tomorrow morning.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov is expected to support Egypt in a speech immediately after Fawzi finishes his remarks. Dulles will speak Tuesday.

In Cairo, President Nasser was quoted as saying the Council action on Suez will determine whether the United Nations wins world respect or "collapses like its predecessors."

The newspaper Al Messaa said Nasser declared in an interview that if the U. N. submits to demands of "big imperialist countries" there can be but one result — "collapse of the United Nations like the League of Nations."

France and Britain have taken the lead in asking the Council to approve the London plan for international control of the canal. Egypt rejected the plan.

Delegates look for the Council to finish general debate on the Suez question by Tuesday night at latest, then go into secret sessions.

The debate revolves around a British-French complaint holding that Egypt's action created a situation likely to endanger world peace. The council will deal later with an Egyptian complaint charging Britain, France and unnamed other powers with endangering peace through "actions against Egypt."

Council

The Council also is considering a British-French resolution, introduced Friday. The resolution proposes the Council endorse the London proposals for international operation of the canal.

The resolution also would have the Council recommend that Egypt work out a system of canal operation in negotiations "on the basis of these proposals."

Dulles has announced he will vote for the British-French resolution. An authoritative diplomatic source said yesterday he wanted to find out if Egypt was willing to negotiate on acceptable terms.

Japs Hope To Sign Treaty

TOKYO, Oct. 7 (AP) — Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama left tonight for Moscow, where he hopes to sign a peace treaty with the Soviet Union.

Thousands of Japanese were at the airport to watch his departure. Some shouted "banzai," some distributed leaflets which said his journey "will lead Japan to ruin" and still others, relatives of Japanese still prisoners in Russia, carried banners urging the Prime Minister to get their men home.

Last Chance

This appeared to be Hatoyama's last chance to make good on a 1955 campaign promise for restoration of diplomatic relations between Japan and the U.S.S.R. Crippled and failing, the 73-year-old Prime Minister has come under heavy newspaper and enemy political fire in recent weeks and the general belief is that he will quit, or be forced out, before the end of the year. Main point of the criticism is that he is too weak and sick to lock horns with the Russians.

Testimonial Dinner

YORK, Pa., Oct. 7 (AP) — A "homecoming testimonial dinner" was held for Gov. Leader here last night at the York County Democratic Committee. Before becoming governor, Leader resided near Dover, York County.

THE MISSION: DEVOTION AND DEDICATION—During the past year members of Christian Missionary Alliance Church, Third St., Stroudsburg, have been engaged in a task of rebuilding and rededication in the aftermath of the 1955 flood. Viewing the Screens Portland Defers Action

ONCE AGAIN GRACIE ALLEN gets into a jam on the Burns and Allen Show at 8 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10. When she secretly rewrites one of Ronnie's assignments to help him get a better grade, Dr. Frank C. Baxter, noted Shakespearean authority and professor at the U. of Southern California, finds himself dealing with some unusual views of the famed bard.

Danny Williams chooses Nelson to take over his night club when a broken leg prevents him from working himself, rather than another comedian, on the second presentation of "The Danny Thomas Show" at 8 p.m. on ch. 6 and 7. However, when Nelson comes up with a comedy routine, instead of the straight singing Danny expected, the situation becomes slightly explosive.

Jerome Kern will be saluted at 8:30 on ch. 6 and 7, when the entire program will be composed of songs of the famed American songwriter. Singing the melodies will be the distinguished baritone, Thomas L. Thomas, and the chorus and orchestra will have several selections.

Lucy and Ricky Ricardo are confronted with dual problems in connection with their young son and his drums on "I Love Lucy" at 9 p.m. on ch. 2 and 10. Little Ricky learns to play the drums and starts a violent feud with the Mertzes that almost gets Lucy and Ricky evicted from the apartment.

Another hilarious half-hour is in store at 9:30, when December Bride returns on ch. 2 and 10. When Lily's son-in-law decides to sell his house, she tries to snare Rory Calhoun and talk him into buying it.

Robert Montgomery presents "September Affair" at 9:30 on ch. 3 and 4, the story of an airplane's forced landing, a pretty young concert pianist and an unhappily married engineer, and what happens when they decide to spend the spare time together.

Firemen To Feature Parade Tonight

A GIANT PARADE marking the opening of "Fire Prevention Week" starts at 7 tonight in Stroudsburg.

The parade formation will be made on W. Main St. between Ninth and Tenth, according to Jack Wyckoff, county parade chairman and coordinator.

Wyckoff, an official of Acme Hose Co., East Stroudsburg, emphasized last night that "all fire companies in Monroe County are invited and urged to take part in tonight's parade."

Brief Time — The coordinator pointed out that efforts to reach officials of individual companies had not proved entirely successful in the brief time available for the planning of the parade.

From Stroudsburg the line of march will move to East Stroudsburg and final disbanding. The parade is the official "kickoff" of this year's observance.

Other important parts of the annual "week" are essay contests in area schools and poster competitions.

If it rains tonight the parade will be held next Monday night, Wyckoff said.

Mrs. Carlton Listed As Satisfactory After Accident

MRS. DOROTHY CARLTON, 53, of Greentown, Pa., last night was listed in satisfactory condition at General Hospital with injuries suffered in a truck-car collision near Analomink Saturday.

State Police said her husband, Ernest Carlton, 61, received a cut of the forehead, while her son, Lowell Carlton, 21, suffered cuts of the right knee and head. Both were discharged from the hospital following treatment.

Abrasions — Mrs. Carlton suffered abrasions of the right knee and rib fractures, troopers said.

The accident occurred on Route 196, three miles north of East Stroudsburg, when the northbound truck of George Miller, 37, of Analomink, skidded into the path of

Berg Claims Eisenhower's Administration Has Saved $10 Billion For U. S. Taxpayers

SAVINGSBURG — The Eisenhower Administration has saved American taxpayers at least $10-billion in economy measures in the last three years and nine months, Monroe County Republicans were informed here last week.

Atty. George M. Berg, GOP nominee for congressman from the 15th District, contrasted the administration's economy measures with what he termed "a pursuance of the Democrat policy of borrow, spend and tax" under former President Truman.

"Under Truman, we had a false prosperity based upon war," Berg told Republicans at a rally at the Lake House here last Wednesday. "Under Eisenhower, we have had a true prosperity based upon peace."

Berg contended that, under the Truman Administration, the dollar was devalued and the cost of living went up 50 percent, while the dollar has been stabilized and the cost of living went up only three percent under Eisenhower.

"Under the Democrat administrations, income taxes soared from $12 a year for an average family of four earning $4,000 a year to $266," Berg claimed. "Under Eisenhower, the tax decreased to $240 a year."

"These are official U. S. Treasury computations," the congressional nominee declared.

"Under Eisenhower," he continued, "the budget has been balanced despite the terrific expenditures for national defense and despite the huge indebtedness that the present administration inherited."

In contrast, Berg insisted, the Federal Government operated on an unbalanced budget under Democrat regimes since 1933.

"The Democrat leaders don't know what a balanced budget means," charged Berg. "They threw that out of their dictionary many years ago."

Berg said further: "Under Truman, we had the most scandalous administration in the U. S. history. Under Eisenhower, we have been honestly and integrity restored to the government."

"Under Truman, we saw a condoning of graft, corruption and conspiracy to violate the laws of the United States. Under Eisenhower, we have seen crime punished and an example set as to the observance of the law."

"Under Truman, we have seen the padding of the payrolls of hundreds of thousands for purely political purposes. Under Eisenhower, we have been at least 260,000 drones dropped from the Federal payroll."

Berg also laid the responsibility of the Korean War solely on the former Democrat administration.

Claiming the Democrats didn't know how to end that conflict, Berg noted that it finally came to a halt during the Eisenhower Administration.

"And since that time," he added, "no precious American blood has been spilled anywhere on the face of the globe."

Berg, opposing incumbent Rep. Francis Walter, also accused the Democrats of "bungling in foreign affairs," while "true world leadership" has been witnessed during the Eisenhower reign.

"The entire world respects Eisenhower," he said, "and the Communists fear him as they have feared no man."

Berg also called attention to Eisenhower's new loyalty program.

"Instead of harboring pinks and Communist fellow travelers," said Berg, "President Eisenhower has weeded them out of government and prosecuted them."

"Instead of distortions and falsehoods and half-truths, we now have the facts and the truth."

"Instead of government being used for the purpose of strengthening a political party, we have seen under Eisenhower a government that serves the interest of all the people."

Jaycees To Conduct Drive For Members

POCONO MOUNTAINS Junior Chamber of Commerce this week sets its eyes toward a broadened horizon.

An integral part of that wider vision will be a drive to increase membership in the organization, Monroe County's newest public service unit and the only one designed specifically for young men aged 21 to 35.

Since its inception two years ago the local "Jaycees" group has taken on a long list of community service activities.

Being treated at General Hospital were Richard Lynchski, 20, of Troop, who suffered severe face cuts, a broken pelvis, and possible internal injuries, and James Newton, 18, Homer, N. Y., received cuts of the left eye, concussion, possible fractures and shock.

A Scranton specialist was flown to East Stroudsburg to participate in a three-hour operation to save Lynchski's life.

Mount Pocono State Police said the accident occurred when two cars attempted to pass on a three lane stretch of Route 611. Troopers identified the drivers involved as Lynchski and Hall. The others were passengers in Lynchski's car.

Both men were tired, wet and hungry when they were finally found at 10:05 a.m. yesterday by Trooper John Kinsel of the Mount Pocono State Police, and Thomson Hall of the Security Police of the Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

However, they apparently suffered no other ill effects for their ordeal. The missing Nimrod reportedly lost the trail out of the woods, and tried unsuccessfully Saturday night to light a fire in the rain-drenched woods.

Enter They entered the woods off Route 611 at Keipel Hill at 9 a.m., Saturday and were reported lost when they failed to show up that night.

Local CLU action is allowed only on local candidates. Joseph S. Clark, former Philadelphia mayor, has been endorsed for the U. S. Senate seat by the State labor federation.

Presiding at last night's meeting, in the absence of John Farley, president, was Russell Buzzard, vice president.

$2.40 Pay Increase To Coal Miners, However Deserved, Still Inflationary

John L. Lewis and the big Northern soft coal operators have revealed to the coal diggers and other mine owners the terms of a newly signed contract for the next year.

The miners get a big raise, more extra benefits — averaged out to be worth $2.40 a day. And nobody who ever has been around a coal mine could begrudge them a single fringe of it.

But, as The Daily Record pointed out when the steelworkers settled on good terms, a wage increase is inevitably followed by a price boost. Already, several coal producers have announced intentions of raising prices.

Higher coal prices add another rung to the ladder of inflation. The consequences may not be measurable at the moment. But they will come, and the miners will be among the first to feel the sting.

This fact tempers any feeling that one might have to congratulate the miners on their pay hike. And it might be appropriate to offer consolation to the hourly wage earners who will be the last to share in this new round of raises and also to pensioners, salaried workers and others with fixed incomes who are penalized above all others by inflation.

In signing the new mine contract, Lewis predicted that American coal production will double in the next 20 years.

But he is not too clear on the reasons for his optimism. He did say he is doubtful about atomic power ever becoming as cheap as coal, despite what we have been led to believe.

He apparently figures coal is in a good competitive position in relation to atomic energy, hydro-electric power and oil. And Lewis is giving considerable weight to the federal government's program to sell more coal on the foreign markets.

Whether it's increased sales for heating and generating purposes, for export or for new uses for coal, everyone will welcome the prospects for injecting new life into an industry that has been ailing for too many years.

Our only hope is that the price increase will not react to the detriment of the industry as it has so many times in the past.

Rise In Crime Rate Is Possibly Due To Breakdown In Disciplinary Structure

Look at your watch as it ticks off 12 seconds. Not a long time, as it? But in that tiny span a major crime has been committed somewhere in the United States.

Now stare at it for a solid four minutes. That requires more effort. However, in those short minutes someone will have killed a fellow American.

These are just ways of saying the nation's crime is soaring to an all-time peak. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover predicts that 1956 will be our darkest year in this respect.

It is natural to ask: "Why?"

Numerous reasons can be cited as contributory. Probably there is no single explanation.

Nevertheless, we are wondering whether most of our crime doesn't grow out of a breaking down of society's disciplinary structure. The family, the church, and the school do not seem to exercise the authority formerly ascribed to them.

In an economic order where so many mothers find it necessary to work — or prefer to work — outside the home, children are growing up without close supervision. And parents, busy buying the luxuries of life for their children, seem to fail in providing the essential training which boys and girls need.

The churches find themselves handicapped, because principles and standards of conduct which parents take lightly can scarcely be impressed on children. Schools face much the same situation.

As adults tend to cast off personal discipline and disregard moral obligations, they break down the co-operation between home, church and school which is required if children are to be trained in well-ordered living.

George Sokolsky Says...

Balance Of Power By So-Called Minorities Emphasized Too Strongly By Politicians

One of the most serious problems in the 1956 Election is the emphasis placed by the politicians upon the so-called minorities and their relationship to the balance of power in a particular state. With so much noise made about the minorities, one wonders what element in the population is the majority.

Population in this country, particularly in the large cities, is in such a state of flux and has been for the past 20 or 30 years that general assumptions are usually wide of the mark. The so-called Jewish vote did not exist before Franklin D. Roosevelt became President and then could only be charted in the sense that districts in which Jews were numerous had formerly been Republican and with the advent of Roosevelt became Democratic.

Professor Lawrence H. Fuchs of Brandeis University, writing in "The American Political Science Review," said of this: "Paradoxically, the most urban of all our citizens, American Jews, have not divided their presidential vote along class lines. As a group they rapidly improved their jobs, extended their incomes, and became highly educated during the 1930's and 1940's. At the same time, they drastically switched their predominant major party choice from the Republican party to the Democrats. And within the group itself differences in income or occupational prestige appear to have been of practically no significance in the formulation of presidential vote preference since 1936."

However, with regard to 1952, Professor Fuchs wrote: "In 1952 all segments of Truman-Wallace strength except Negroes shifted somewhat to Eisenhower. But analysis of aggregate returns from Jewish areas and the results of national surveys show that the Jewish defection was slight indeed. In Jewish Assembly Districts in New York City, in Boston's Ward 14, in Hartford's Ward 27, in Pittsburgh's Ward 13, Stevenson appears to have matched or increased the Truman percentage of the two-party vote."

"It was primarily in the suburbs that inroads were made on the Jewish Democratic vote—in such places as Westchester, New York; Newton, Massachusetts; and West Hartford, Connecticut."

In the present election, it is not altogether apparent whether this particular vote will be more favorable to Eisenhower than to Stevenson. Involved are many side issues, namely the attitude of the Administration toward Israel-Arab arms shipments; the failure of the Administration to appoint a Jew to the Cabinet, although one might regard Lewis L. Strauss of the AEC as practically holding Cabinet rank; and the Secretary to the Cabinet, Maxwell Baile, is Jewish, as is I. Jack Martin, one of President Eisenhower's Administrative Assistants and formerly Bob Taft's Administrative Assistant.

On the other hand the Liberal Party, which is influential in New York and is principally Jewish, is an anti-Communist, Fabian Socialist element and has endorsed Stevenson and the entire Democratic ticket.

The Republicans in New York nominated Jacob P. Javits for the United States Senate in the hope of offsetting this trend which could prove to be a balance of power. The Democrats countered by nominating Robert Wagner who in his own right and by inheritance is held in high esteem among the Jewish people.

There are no indications from measurable data that there is any change of attitude between 1952 and 1956 and as this could influence the results in several states, the politicians are naturally concerned. Professor Fuchs makes an interesting point concerning Jewish College Communities, as they reflect this vote. He says:

"At least suggestive of the importance of immediate group contacts for the Jewish vote in 1952 are the results of polls taken at Yeshiva college and Brandeis University. At Yeshiva, a school which is 100 per cent Jewish, Eisenhower received a mere four per cent of the vote. Brandeis is a non-sectarian Jewish-sponsored school. Probably as much as 10 per cent of the student body there is not Jewish. In the Brandeis poll Stevenson received 88 per cent of the vote."

This minority type of voting is a heritage of Roosevelt's fragmentation of the American population. It served him adequately in at least three of his four elections and it may continue to plague the United States for years to come. Undoubtedly the task of re-education is to eliminate the concept of racial and religious minorities.

frick for her. She would turn him over either to the police or a mental specialist. This would be true of one Paris frock. Fancy her reactions if he turned up with four or five!

"A Paris gown has a magic effect on any woman," insisted Watson. "She could be so overwhelmed with joy as not to care how he got it."

"Wrong, my dear Watson! I insist that any wife's question would be 'Where did you get this?' Her second would be 'Why must you lie to me?'"

"Do you suppose the thief thought the boxes contained something especially costly... like coffee at present levels, for instance?"

"It is my impression coffee is now being delivered in armored trucks," snapped Holmes.

The phone rang. Holmes answered and, grabbing his hat, said, "Come, Watson!" "What's up now?" asked the doctor. "This type of crime is spreading," said Holmes. "I have just received a report of the hijacking of a shipment of men's 1957 Bermuda shorts, tropical shirts and Florida Cabana beach robes!"

"Have you thought there may be nothing more to this hijacking than some man's desire to please his wife or girl friend?"

"Yes, and discounted it. Such a man would not be merely inventing ultimate suspicion by the wife or girl friend. Nothing so quickly convinces a wife there is something wrong than when a husband brings home a Paris in a new Paris original," said Holmes. I place the hijacker in five categories. (1) A musical show producer short of funds; (2) A woman truck driver who got a peek inside the boxes and couldn't resist; (3) A common thief who thought the boxes contained something else and is the sorest crook now at large; (4) a dress manufacturer determined to get ideas the hard way."

"What do you mean by the hard way, Holmes?"

"My dear Watson, everybody knows dress manufacturers have been knocking off Paris styles for years without any airport plots. There are a thousand easy ways to do it."

"Have you thought there may be nothing more to this hijacking than some man's desire to please his wife or girl friend?"

"Wrong, my dear Watson! I insist that any wife's question would be 'Where did you get this?' Her second would be 'Why must you lie to me?'"

"Do you suppose the thief thought the boxes contained something especially costly... like coffee at present levels, for instance?"

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE

Love Has No Substitute In Parent Versus Child

"Parents on the Run," a book published last Spring, concerns child-coping. Authors M. and W. Beecher, themselves specialists in parental distress, in some brisk words gave the island back to the Indians. The latter being parents who sold the premises too cheap and are forced to repossess the real estate taken over by Modern Impdrom.

Well, it's sensational reading, and the more trouble you think you are having bringing up the young, the more sensational it seems. The editor of one large magazine apparently just caught up with the Beecher tome and was in grave peril with his own brood. At least his sudden full-page reaction was according to what I've observed after lending my copy here and there. In a word, wow!

One reads the news that all is not lost, one drinks deep in the draught of "self-reliance" recommended for young sprouts. Then one leaps up refreshed, armed. "Now look here, young man... DON'T let me catch you etc. ing..." "Just one moment, DON'T come downstairs without making your bed, brushing your hair, scrubbing your teeth, and what's more..."

Such revolutionary tactics are bracing to parents, but must be shared for fullest enjoyment. So one lends the good news to other (and worse) parents, to witness their release from tyranny. Then comes the real fun. Soon the stentorian tones of "I am King of This Jungle" emanate in sweet duet from parents to whom the book was directed. Self-reliance eclipses the old patterns of child-rearing. Small heads are brushed, and seldom is heard a saucy word.

The months go by, and one relaxes a bit here, relents a bit there. Parents revert to being just parents again. Making the same mistakes, letting small slips from small customers pass untrouced, unnoticed. Not being very consistent about treats and punishments and bed-making, even reverting what we just told the kids could NEVER happen again.

We go back to just loving them, letting them take advantage of their prerogative of being little—and loving them anyhow. We note that—invariably—our friends have done the same. It's fun, though, watching a bedeviled parent feast his eyes on the doctrine of "Parents on the Run" for the first time. Whisk, wham, whack—hooray for self-reliance.

You know what I think? If you love your children, really love them, things can't be too bad for them or for you. Without love, you're lost. No book on child-rearing can help. Still, the Beechers are perfectly right; self-reliant children make parenthood simpler. Self-reliance is desirable, but one may be ever so capable and love not at all. I'd rather the children remembered that I loved them than that they could make bdds at the age of six and nine. I'd rather they remember they could get by with a little chicanery today, maybe be paddled for the same offense tomorrow—but they were beloved every day, and always.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

The sales manager's wife appeared unexpectedly in his office, and discovered her husband eating lunch—with his pretty secretary on his lap.

"Well," snorted the wife. "Explain this one, you worm!" "Control yourself, dear," said her husband calmly. "You see all this food on the table. I had to do something. The waiter forgot to send up a napkin."

"How do you expect me to chalk up any victories with the material available this fall?" whined a football coach to some prying old grads. "I gotta use an unbalanced line—and my backyard ain't so smart neither."

The kids in a tough neighborhood were lined up for inoculations. The doctor asked one bulldog-jawed youngster, "Ready for your shot, my boy?"

"Yeah," was the answer. "Make mine rye and ginger ale."

$240,000,000 Aid For Tito Rides On Ike's Decision

Washington, Oct. 7 — More than $240,000,000 in weapons and equipment is at stake in that ruling. President Eisenhower has to make a decision on granting more free military aid to Yugoslavia.

This heretofore undisclosed figure would bring the total of such supplies for Yugoslavia since 1950 to $790,000,000.

Of this immense amount of free arms and material, $550,000,000 worth has already been shipped to Yugoslavia and is in the hands of its military forces. The proposed $240,000,000 additional aid that the State and Defense Departments have "programmed" would normally take around 18 months to deliver.

Pending the President's eventual decision, some weapons and parts have continued to go to Yugoslavia.

Under the multi-billion dollar foreign aid budget Congress finally enacted after a bitter fight, the President is required to formally determine if Yugoslavia should continue to receive free arms. The prescribed basis for his decision is whether that country is or is not a Kremlin puppet.

Meanwhile since August 1, some 35 F-86 jet fighters and around $5,000,000 in spare parts have been turned over to Yugoslavia.

That's been done on the recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Now or later — The military leaders also favor giving more free military aid to Yugoslavia. They urge this in a comprehensive report to the National Security Council, the top policy agency which the President presides over personally.

But the Pentagon and Justice Department differ over when the President has to act on this explosive issue.

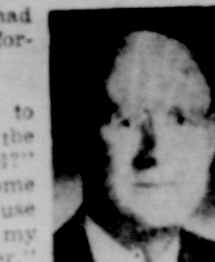

The Joint Chiefs have been advised by their legal authorities that October 16 is the deadline. Attorney General Brownell, however, holds it is not mandatory for the President to take a stand by then.

As Brownell interprets this congressional provision, in an unpublished opinion, military aid to Yugoslavia does have to cut off on October 16 unless expressly authorized by the President. But he doesn't have to make the decision by that date. Brownell contends the President can do that whenever he wants to.

At Secretary of State Dulles' last press conference, he indicated the President's declaration is likely to come after October 16. Dulles favors waiting until the stormy election campaign is over.

The F-86s and spare parts have been sent to Yugoslavia for a number of high policy reasons. Stressed particularly in the report of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are the following:

Meichners Celebrate Anniversary

By Jim Riley

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Meichner, 1157 Main St., Stroudsburg, yesterday celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary.

Major portion of the celebration is listed for tomorrow, when the Meichners depart on a trip to Long Island, where they spent their honeymoon.

Chris is a member of the Job Printing section of The Daily Record.

Our congratulations and best wishes for many more anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Fish, Marshalls Creek, are currently fishing in Canada.

Les is an authority on fishing and golf—might even call him a real expert.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Edwards departed Saturday for Mississippi to see son Harry get his wings as a jet pilot at Greenville Air Base. Harry, a graduate of The Citadel, is due for still more training in technical school in Texas. The Edwards live at 75 Ananionk St., East Stroudsburg.

Bob and Mary Herman, 536 Ave. E., Stroudsburg, plan to move to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in the near future.

Bob plans to attend a special school and gain employment in the sunny south.

Joe Maioriello, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, is currently selling drugs in the Scranton area. He hopes to obtain the Monroe County section in the near future.

Joe had been teaching at Bon Salem and Shillington High School before becoming a salesman.

An area truck driver, whose name was forgotten to obtain, turned in a good deed on Stroudsburg's Main St. last Friday.

He assisted in getting a stalled truck underway, although it was a tough detail. Thanks for everything.

Bob Clark, editor of our sports pages, is high in his praise of the press box at East Stroudsburg's Memorial Stadium.

Clark says it will do credit to any college in the country.

Mrs. Kenneth S. Roth

Kenneth Roth Takes Bride In Maryland

Silver Springs, Md., was the scene of the August 12 wedding of Kenneth S. Roth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Roth of East Stroudsburg, RD 2 to Miss Jo Ann Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Williams of Columbus Ohio.

The wedding was held in the Seventh Day Adventist Church with a reception in the Washington Sanatorium and Hospital. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown with a fitted bodice flowing into a bouffant skirt of lace and net ruffles ending in a chapel train. She wore a crown of sequins and rhinestones and carried a bouquet of stephanotis with white ribbons.

Janice Williams, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Kirschburg of Ohio and Miss Rosell Kirsch of Takoma Park, Md. The flower girl was Debbie Jensen.

Richard Adams of Winchester, Va., was best man and ushers were Malin Cole, Richard Steinhauer and Dick Canbar, all of Takoma Park. Steven Williams, brother of the bride served as Bible boy.

Both the bride and bridegroom were students at Washington Missionary College. After a wedding trip they are making their home at 7423 Aspen Court, Apt. 1, Takoma Park, Md., while Roth continues his college education.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Standing room only in the churches yesterday for World Wide Communion and driving room, barely, on the roads, for the autumn foliage. The two seemed to fit well together for a bright and blue and blousy October day.

It is well to feast the soul and the eyes, storing up strength for the building tensions, the tightening bonds of the gray and bleak days that are bound to be coming.

As a matter of fact, it doesn't look as if anybody would be having time either to reflect on the state of their souls or the state of the weather this week, the way it's starting off with meetings by the score. There are times, especially at the beginning of a week, when I feel as if we were all so busy rushing places that we never get anywhere.

However, once you get into the swing of things it's never quite so hectic as it seems in advance — and there are usually so many new ideas to stimulate your mind, so many new vistas of service opening up, so many pleasant friendships furthered, so much good food — that you're awfully glad you bothered to go.

However, somewhere along the line, it does seem as if we ought to take time to do something specific with all we gain. Might take a tip from the young people at Grace Lutheran Church who had a program on service and then went out and served — polishing the wood and the brass of the sanctuary.

Salem Church Prepares For 150th Year

Gilbert — Plans for the 150th anniversary of the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church October 14 through 21 were discussed at the meeting of the Women's Guild last week. Rev. Robert Booth presented the general outline of the celebration. A banquet, prepared by the Women's Guild members of Salem Church, will be served by Women's Guild members of Jerusalem Church, Trachsville on Wednesday, October 17.

Mrs. Marjory Krome conducted the meeting. Mrs. Lillian Kreger led devotions on "To Witness Through the Church" with Mrs. Kathryn Snyder leading the same topic for the discussion. Delegates were appointed to the Fall Mountain Regional Guild workshop to be held at Palmerton on October 23. Mrs. Dreibach reported for the nominating committee with election to be held at the November meeting.

Present were Mrs. Ruth Kreger, Mrs. Nora Anglemeyer, Mrs. Lillian Kreger, Miss Emma Metzler, Mrs. Mabel Anglemeyer, Mrs. Stella Kreger, Mrs. Esther Hendry, Mrs. Beulah Gregory, Mrs. Margaret Schubert, Miss Anna Kresge, Miss Marjane Everett, Mrs. Marjory Krome, Mrs. Kathryn Snyder, Mrs. Charlotte Booth, Mrs. Florence Dreibach, Mrs. Violet Gurskey and Miss Elizabeth Shupp.

Painting Of Keokee Gift To Chapel

Paradise Valley — The Willing Workers of Paradise Valley at their meeting at the home of Mrs. Millicent Nierling presented their gift of a water color painting of Keokee Chapel by Edna Palmer Englehardt to the church to be hung inside the chapel.

Mrs. Hilda Heydt, president, presided at the meeting when the square dance held September 28 at Dusty's Flying W Ranch was reported a success. Proceeds will be used for future community building.

The group decided to sponsor a similar party for the same purpose at the Flying W on October 19. It will be a square dance, cake walk and masquerade planned as a family affair for the general public.

The annual banquet of the Willing Workers was set for Friday, October 5 at Varkony's in Saylorsburg.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Clara DePue, Mrs. Jane Stiff, Mrs. Jerry Cramer, Miss June Heydt, Mrs. Frances Lillis, Mrs. Louise Koerner, Mrs. Hilda Heydt, Mrs. Mabel Nierling, Mrs. Vera Mortimer, Miss Winnie Goll, Mrs. Evelyn Beatty, Mrs. Trudy Goll, Miss Mary Beatty, Mrs. Joann Stalinski, Mrs. Barbara Burnett, Mrs. Orpah Beescker, Mrs. Clair Shick, and Mrs. Millicent Nierling.

Paradise WWSWS Holds Meeting

Paradise Valley — The Paradise Women's Society of World Service held its September meeting at the home of Miss Lula Henry and Mrs. Mildred Friday on Thursday night with Mrs. Paul Barry presiding.

Members turned in used postage stamps to be sent to the director of the Bible Club Movement and worn nylons to be mailed to the National Council of Social Welfare in Japan for use by war widows. There is room for more stockings.

Miss Winnie Goll was named to fill the office of secretary of Christian Social relations in place of Mrs. Walter Lindstedt who has moved away. Mrs. Edna Canale was in charge of the program, "Mission Field, North America."

Which complacency needs to be challenged by missionary zeal. The next meeting will be held Oct. 25 at the home of Mrs. Lewis Tucker. Refreshments were served by the hostesses during the fellowship hour and featured Miss Henry's homemade ice cream.

Those present were Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Laura Goll, Miss Winnie Goll, Mrs. Steward Bush, Mrs. Vida Spangenberg, Mrs. Edna Canale, Mrs. Lewis Tucker, Mrs. Paul Barry and Miss Henry and Mrs. Friday.

Pooleys To Mark 52nd Anniversary

Fifty-two years of married life will be celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pooley, of Arlington Heights today.

Mr. and Mrs. Pooley are natives of Truro, Cornwall, England. Mr. Pooley coming to this country in 1902 and settling in Baltic, Michigan, where he worked in the copper mines. Mrs. Pooley, the former Ada Jane Dyer, came to the United States two weeks prior to their wedding on October 8, 1902, in Baltic, Michigan.

In 1906 the Pooleys moved to Vineland N. J., where they operated a chicken farm for fourteen years. Mr. Pooley also operated a cement block business there for some time. In 1920 they came to Stroudsburg and again combined cement block making and poultry raising until retiring several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Pooley are active church and Sunday school workers and through their work with young folks stay young at heart. They attend worship services and Sunday school sessions at Arlington Chapel and the Fifth Street Presbyterian Mission, Stroudsburg, and teach children's and young people's classes at both places.

They have one son, Clarence, of Stroudsburg, and a daughter, Adeline, Mrs. Clyde White of RD 3, Stroudsburg, and four grandchildren, Amy and Eddie Pooley, of Stroudsburg; Mrs. Lola White Wary, of RD 3, Stroudsburg and Rollin White, of Levittown.

Inspiration Put To Work By Young People

A devotional program on "Youth and the Unfinished Task" conducted by Miss Marilyn Nittel at Grace Lutheran Church sparked several members of the group into action, and as a result they have cleaned and polished the altar and rearward in the sanctuary of the church.

Kathleen Heller and Holly Potts worked on the altar; Kathy Wilkins polished the brass altar cross; Judy and Sandra Mery, the altar candelabra; and Susan Repsher and Sally Garris the altar vases.

The teenagers meet each Sunday night at 6:30 in the chapel with Mr. and Mrs. Tony Vogler as their adult advisors.

WSCS Tuesday

The WSCS of Water Gap Methodist Church meets Tuesday night at 8 at the home of Mrs. Nelson Lightner, Sr., Water Gap. President is Mrs. Mason Decker.

Miss Roberts Is Bride Of E. W. Hower

Bangor—Married in the Grace Lutheran Church, East Bangor, at 2 p.m. on Saturday were Miss Alice Marie Roberts and Elwood Walter Hower with Rev. Paul N. Youse and Rev. Henry G. Wells officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Roberts, Bangor RD 2, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hower Sr., Central Ave., East Bangor. They are both graduates of Bangor Area Joint High School and are both employed in the office of Julius Keyser and Co.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a waist-length gown of embroidered tulle over taffeta, with a Peter Pan collar, fitted bodice and long sleeves. The bouffant skirt was trimmed at the hemline with a tulle ruffle. A crown of sequins and rhinestones held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Miss Linda Rosato of Bangor was maid of honor, and Mrs. George Gower, Bangor RD 3, and Mrs. Walter Karcher of Easton, sisters of the bride were bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore mint green and the bridesmaids were in pink and blue. They wore matching headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Robert Abruzzese of Bangor was best man, with George Hower, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, Franklin Roberts, brother of the bride, and Walter Hausman and Bruce A. Eden serving as ushers. The bride's mother wore pale

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Cherchez la femme! If I remember anything at all from my high school French course, this is the expression that sums up in three little words the Gallic outlook on life. It has probably inspired more activity than any similarly popular phrase, including "I love you" . . . and has made the entire world aware that whenever there's a bit of devilry afoot the French presume a woman to be at the bottom of it.

We Americans are somewhat different. Apparently American women are better propagandists than their French sisters . . . because in this country we say "look for the woman" in relation to a man's success. Whenever there's a big wheel of masculine gender, we watch look around for a feminine contemporary who's been smoothing out the ruts in the road. Or, as Aunt Gussie put it on TV's "The People's Choice," "whenever there's a man up ahead, there's usually a woman marching behind with a javelin pointed at his neck." This idea may not make the female sex particularly popular with the male, but in essence it actually differs little from the French concept. In both cases it's agreed that a woman is the gas jet that keeps the pot boiling. What difference does it make, actually, that in one case the broth is not as good as in the other?

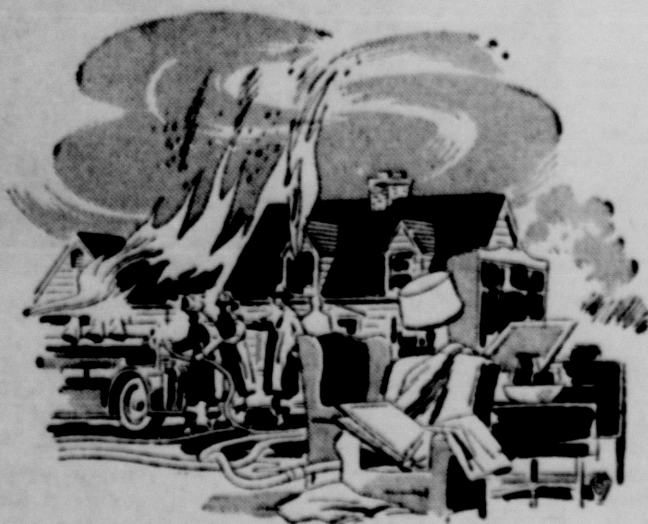

Frankly, I think women are over-estimated in both instances, and I say this at the risk of having all my female friends descend upon me with fire in their eyes. I firmly believe that ANY man is quite capable of embroiling himself in some pretty stupid, ridiculous messes on occasion quite unaided by any woman. By the same token, I also feel that there are thousands of men who have trundled their little red wagons up the steep hill of success without any women being around to keep the hub caps oiled. As a matter of fact, I am just masculine enough in my thinking to feel that men, in the long run, are fully as capable as women . . . but I am feminine enough to hope they never, never, NEVER become really convinced of it.

Nevertheless women are important. VERY important. And I'm willing to mount a soap box anytime and shout their accomplishments to the world. Why, right this minute I can think of at least eight women whose impact upon society has been terrific. But I'm not going to tell you who they are. I'm going to let you GUESS FOR YOURSELF. AND WIN GIFT CERTIFICATES FROM WYCKOFF'S! It's a contest, and we begin it Wednesday on our WYCKOFF SHOPPER RADIO PROGRAM at 9:45 a. m. over station WYFO. Each day, continuing through Thursday, October 18th, clues will be given as to the identity of one woman, who is known to everyone in this area. ONE LOCAL NAME WILL BE INCLUDED . . . the others will be from anywhere in the world and any era, but THEY'LL ALL BE WOMEN OF WHOM YOU KNOW.

And what will you win? First prize will be a 10.00 gift certificate . . . second, 7.50 . . . and third, 5.00. All you do is assemble your eight guesses, bring them into Wyckoff's cashier cage by Saturday noon, October 20th, and await the results. Join the fun; won't you? Since we have no broadcast Saturday or Sunday, clues will be presented as follows: Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 10, 11 and 12; Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and two on Thursday, October 15, 16, 17 and 18. Good luck!

• FIRE PREVENTION WEEK • OCTOBER 7-13

AN outstanding total of our wealth went up in smoke last year... gone forever. Unfortunately, that isn't all. Many people were burned. Some died. Homes were gutted. Businesses destroyed. Lifelong savings turned to ashes. Farm buildings and livestock irrevocably lost. Human tragedy, personal hardship, unfortunate suffering beyond measure resulted. And all because of fires, many of which commonsense precaution could have prevented. Others have. So can we.

LIVES lost and tragedy suffered can, of course, never be compensated for. But financial loss due to fire can be eliminated. A well planned insurance coverage, tailored to meet your needs, is your best protection. Safeguard your investments, your business, your savings. Call one of the insurance experts listed here. He is ready with an insurance plan that will give you financial protection against loss due to fire. But call him today. Fire strikes without warning. Protect yourself before it reaches you.

REP. WALTER IN GENEVA, SWITZERLAND listens to translation of another speaker's comments before Intergovernmental Committee On European Migration at League of Nations Building. Walter, representative from this district in Congress, outlined "land resettlement" program now being undertaken by U. S. and Latin American nations.

Walter Reveals U.S. Stand On Assistance For Migrants

(Special to The Daily Record) — GENEVA, Switzerland — Rep. Francis E. Walter told an international committee on European migration this week that the U. S. stands ready to give financial aid in a broad-scale "land resettlement" project for migrants.

But the Pennsylvania Congressman emphasized that the United States can play its role only after the project has been inaugurated by Latin American countries.

Speaking to the Intergovernmental Committee On European Migration in the League of Nations building in Geneva, Rep. Walter said:

"As the members of this council well know, I have advocated the resettlement of European migrants on the unused lands of Latin America for at least four years.

"The preparatory studies made under the auspices of the Intergovernmental Committee . . . have been most helpful in obtaining from the United States Congress the necessary legislation authorizing my country's participation in a land resettlement program.

"True, it took a long time to get that legislation, but I am very happy to inform you at this time that the necessary legislative enactments have been placed on our statute books.

"Under this legislation . . . the President of the United States is authorized to allocate a part of the $15 million Latin American Development Fund for the purpose of promoting such land resettlement programs designed to contribute to the economic development of the various Latin American countries and to the enhancement of their industrial and agricultural productivity.

"Thus the United States is willing and prepared to assist in the implementation of resettlement programs mutually agreed to by migrant-sending and migrant-receiving countries. However, the United States cannot and is not authorized to originate plans and programs.

"Under the terms of our new law a Latin American country—any Latin American country—would have to make available land suitable for resettlement of migrants, while a migrant-sending European country would have to contribute its share of financial and economic assistance to the new settlers.

"When a preliminary arrangement is reached between the two countries, the United States would then examine such bilateral agreement and determine the ways and means by which it would offer its technical services and its financial assistance to such a plan."

Girl Scouts Plan Hike

BANGOR — Members of Girl Scout Troop 161 at their regular meeting last week in Lutheran Hall made plans to hold a hike on the Appalachian Trail. Younger members of the troop will hold a hike to Greenwalk on Nov. 4.

The troop also made plans to enter Bangor's Halloween parade on Wednesday night, Oct. 31. Routine business matters were discussed under the leadership of Loretta VanZandt, Patricia Reed and Lola Rosato.

OFF MIKE

by Joe Whalen

There has been an active debate in progress for the past few weeks in a court room in Foley Square, New York. Actually, it all started on an entirely different subject but has digressed into a vociferous discussion of what kind of published music is being played on radio and television around the country.

There are two major music publishing houses; Broadcast Music, Inc. and American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. A congressional sub-committee is looking into monopolistic tendencies of these two companies. In fact, each house is claiming the other governs what is played on most stations around the nation. ASCAP feels that BMI, which is owned in part by many networks and big stations, is making demand that only BMI licensed music be played. A few performers have testified that they were given only music from one company to record. But BMI, on the other hand, has produced figures that show ASCAP released music is used on a ratio of at least 5 to 1 over BMI tunes. What conclusions will be reached are not to be discussed here.

The point is mentioned merely to state what the policy is at WVPO. At no time have any announcements at this station ever been pressured into playing one type of music as opposed to another. In fact, if any of our personnel were to be polled, they probably would state that they don't even notice the publisher's mark on the record label. What this means to you, the listener, is this: WVPO music is picked and arranged for listenability; tunes are selected in a manner that produces proper balance for programs, not prompted acquiescence to a publishing firm.

Nice to know your voice in the Pecos merely watches the Foley Square investigations from the sidelines.

Wilson High Manpower Melts Bangor, 34-7

WILSON — Displaying manpower to spare, the Warriors of Wilson High melted the Slate Pickers of Bangor Area Joint High School into a 34 to 7 defeat on Saturday on the Wilson Field before some 3000 spectators. Using the platoon system to every advantage, Coach Judd Hall of Wilson used four squads in downing the Maroon and White. However it was not until the second half, when Bangor's shortage showed the strain of the contest, as Wilson was able to move as though they owned the gridiron. The Slaters, were valiant in defeat, amassing 13 first downs to Wilson's six.

Hampered by injuries to key personnel, Bangor played a scoreless first period with the victors. Glen Heard, of Bangor, one of the best halfbacks in the Valley missed the game as did Earl Walters, end and Barry Reimer, second string quarterback.

Wilson on the other hand was loaded for bear with all hands in perfect physical condition and so displayed it. Right now they look pretty much like the class of the Lehigh-Northampton League. Although this was Wilson's first victory of the season, they lost two other contests to Easton and Phillipsburg, N.J., both non-league members.

The contest was marked by some fine broken field running by Dick Holzer of Wilson, who went 51 yards for one counter and Sigafoss also of Wilson who went 43 yards to score. Wilson tossed three passes all of which were completed, while Bangor receivers misused on eleven, completing only three.

First Quarter
Bangor won the toss and elected to receive. Bangor failed to gain and kicked to Wilson's 37 yard line. Wilson could not gain and they kicked to the Bangor 10 with Miller returning to the 24. Bob Menhennitt made 7 yards and Finelli got away to the Bangor 42 for a first down. Miller, Finelli and Williams added another Bangor first down on the Wilson 46. Finelli failed to gain and Williams passed to Miller for a first down on the Wilson 26. Bangor ground yardage to the Wilson 20 but lost the ball on downs. The teams exchanged kicks and Bangor recovered a Wilson fumble on their own 49. Bangor failed to gain and Williams kicked to Wilson, with Heinrich taking the ball on the Wilson 20 and returning to the Bangor 30 as the quarter ended. The score Bangor 0-Wilson 0.

Second Quarter
Hartnutt made one yard for the Warriors, Holzer added 8 more and on the next play ran 21 yards to score for Wilson. Palmer placed the extra point. Wilson kicked-off to Bangor with Finelli taking to the 16. Williams ran for 21 yards to the Bangor 37 for a first down. Finelli made it another Bangor first down on the Wilson 49 yard line. Butz in two carries for Bangor made it still another first down on the Wilson 34 and Finelli on the next play carried to the Wilson 20 for another first down. Menhennitt and Finelli alternated and made it a first down on the Wilson one yard line. Miller on the next play hit center for Bangor's only touchdown of the game. Butz added the extra point on an end run. Score Wilson 7-Bangor 7.

Wilson's second touchdown came fast. Bangor kicked to Wilson, who after a 20 yard return to the 30, made another first down on the Bangor 43. On the next play Hartnutt fumbled and Butz of Bangor recovered on the Bangor 32. Bangor could not get moving and kicked to Wilson, who returned to the Holzer to Heinrich, Wilson made it another first down on the Bangor 21. Holzer passed again to Frank, this time for 21 yards and the second Wilson counter. Palmer kicked the extra point. The half ended at this point, Wilson 14-Bangor 7.

Third Quarter
A tired Slater eleven took the field for the second half, and the Warriors, by platooning scored two more touchdowns in the third quarter. Wilson struck fast at this point of the game. Bangor kicked off to the victors who returned to the Wilson 47. Hartnutt made two yards and on the next play Holzer ran over guard cut-back picked up blockers and ran 51 yards to score for the Warriors. Palmer's bid for the extra point was blocked by Collura.

Following the succeeding kick off Bangor kicked to the Wilson 16, on the next play ran 21 yards to Wilson. Bangor guard broke through and recovered the Wilson blocked punt on the Warriors 11. Bangor lost the ball on downs at the Wilson 16, failing to make any yardage. Holzer ran for a first down on the Wilson 31. Sigafoss made it another first down on the Bangor 49. And in the next series of downs Sigafoss got lose and ran 43 yards to counter the Wilson fourth touch-down. Palmer added the extra point via placement. Score Wilson 27-Bangor 7.

Fourth Quarter
Bangor took the ensuing kick-off and marched to the Wilson 11 yard line where they lost the ball on downs. Wilson could not move and punted to the Bangor 43. Finelli made 9 yards in three tries and on fourth down Bangor failed to connect on a pass play and Wilson took over on their own 46 yard line. Benick of Wilson got lose and ran 36 yards to the Bangor 3 yard line in the next series of downs. Heinrich in two tries added another Wilson score by hitting at left tackle to counter. Palmer added his fourth extra point as the game ended. Score Wilson 34-Bangor 7 — Arnon Williams.

Visiting Bishop To Address Representatives
Of Five Area Episcopal Churches At Meeting

RT. REV. ROBERT BRADY, bishop of the Diocese of Fond du Lac, Wis., will address members of five area Episcopal churches at 4 p. m. Sunday, Nov. 11 at Christ Church in Stroudsburg.

Rev. Charles A. Park, rector, said last night the other participating parishes will be the Church of the Good Shepherd, Milford; Trinity Church, Mount Pocono; St. Mary's Church, Wind Gap, and the West Bangor parish.

Bishop Brady's address will be a prelude to the 1956 interim meeting of some 150 Episcopal bishops, which will be held the week of Nov. 12 at Pocono Manor Inn.

Eight such services will be held throughout the Diocese of Bethlehem to present the prelates to clergy and laity alike. Similar services will be held in Bethlehem, Reading, Pottsville, Jim Thorpe, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Towanda.

In addition to Bishop Brady, other prelates who will be preaching at these services will be the bishop of Texas, the bishop of Eastern Oregon, the bishop of Haiti, the bishop of Salina, the bishop of Honolulu, the bishop of Olympia and the bishop of Nevada.

All the clergy of the diocese will participate in these services, together with the massed choirs of the diocese. Vestrymen will serve as committees of welcome for the bishops.

The House of Bishops will be called to order Monday, Nov. 12 by Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church, and Rt. Rev. Karl Block, bishop of California, will serve as the vice president of the House. Rev. Alexander Rodgers, rector of St. Elizabeth's Church in Ridgeport, N. J., is secretary.

At the opening session, prelates consecrated since the meeting of the House in Hawaii last year will be presented. Then there will be a memorial service for deceased bishops. Petitions, memorials, resolutions and other matters of business will be introduced and the presiding bishop will address the House.

Bishop Frederick J. Warneke, host prelate, and his wife will entertain the other bishops and their wives at a reception Monday night, Nov. 12. In the receiving line will be the presiding bishop and Mrs. Sherrill, the archbishop of Quebec, and Mrs. Carrington, Rt. Rev. Frank W. Sterrett, retired bishop of Bethlehem, and his wife. The clergy of the Diocese of Bethlehem and their wives will participate in this reception.

Tuesday will be "Quiet Day," conducted for the prelates by the archbishop of Quebec. Very Rev. Lawrence Rose, dean of General Theological Seminary, will lead the meditations for the bishops' wives.

During Wednesday's business sessions, the House will meet in executive session to consider nominations for bishop of the Missionary District of Idaho. Election to this office will be on Thursday morning at an early celebration of the Holy Communion.

The wives of the bishops will journey to Bethlehem on Wednesday to visit the old Moravian Church building. While there, they will be the guests of Trinity Church at luncheon.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

MONDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—This can be a beneficial day especially if you find emotions and temper highly in bounds. Remember, it's often best to remain silent, avoid misunderstandings. A good time for advancement.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—This day's results are really up to you and how difficult your demands. If you keep a pleasant demeanor and have faith in what you can do, and do it, you will have sound returns, and also some fun.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—This day can be pleasant as well as productive. Much is up to you, your willingness, initiative. There's no need to strain or overdo, demand a steady, progressive pace and you will succeed.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—While the influence is not generous in all matters, essentials are favored. Being your conscience, attend to necessary tasks, and don't worry. Think before acting.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—You are the "favorite son" today with your natural place in excellent position. At the same time, be careful where your emotions are concerned. Be of good cheer.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Be undisturbed, remain calm. You can handle any situation which may appear. However, do not expect too much in the way of results just now. If you put forth least effort, they will come later.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—You will be agreeably surprised at the extent of returns if you go ahead in your usual steady and intelligent way now.

October 24 to November 21 (Scorpio)—Some restrictive tendencies. Be careful, don't get into unpleasant arguments, etc. Sun's fire rays otherwise help in all worthwhile undertakings, personal and general matters.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—A good time to seek employment, hold conferences, ask favors or aid from influential persons. Be mindful of your disposition and how you approach people. YOU can make the day a winning one.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Suppress controversy, avoid needless contention. With your studious, fine nature to the fore, you can reap remunerative returns. It's up to YOU.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Any problems can be handled adroitly, and sincere, clever work will bring reward. Don't become frustrated or discouraged if your action is needed. Confer, ask advice—and heed it.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—The will to succeed will put you on the right track now, and determined, consistent endeavor will bring you to long goals. Mind disposition and attitude. YOU BOEN TODAY are of Libra, with a sense of justice and sociability outstanding. You're manifesting, through Libra, a courteous, individualistic and artistic temperament. Be sure you maintain calm when making decisions. You can achieve much. Birthdate of John Hay, early American statesman.

325 Bankers
Attend Meeting
Of Group 3

HELPING people toward better understanding of the role played by banks in their communities was the aim of a "public relations" conference attended by nearly 325 Group Three bankers in Stroudsburg over the weekend.

The delegates represented 325 banks in Group Three, Pennsylvania Bankers Association. Their conference was held in the Penn Stroud Hotel.

John E. Watt, trust officer of Stroudsburg Security Trust Co., was program chairman and also served as host for the conference. He was assisted by John J. McCartney, Group Three chairman who introduced the speakers; Willard M. Hunter, Pittston, First National Bank and Walter L. Snyder, assistant vice president of the First National in Allentown.

Principal Speaker

Principal speaker for the conference was Roy Hayes, Detroit, public relations officer for General Motors Corp. Hayes said courtesy and understanding are basic factors in building sound public relations. He said it also helps a bank "have a sense of humor."

Others on a panel discussion with Hayes were Hugh Hoffman, vice president of Opinion Research Corp., Princeton, N. J. who discussed "Evaluating Public Relations Efforts"; Don Brennan, community relations chief for Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia, "Community Relations"; Harold LeDue, Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania vice president, "The Employee's Role in Public Relations" and John LaCorda, Philadelphia, whose topic was "Telling the Bank's Story."

Many of the large Philadelphia and New York City banks as well as the American Bankers Association and Pennsylvania Bankers Association sent representatives to the conference.

The House will continue to meet throughout Thursday and Friday morning. Mrs. Sherrill will meet with the wives on Thursday and that evening, the choir of men and boys of the Cathedral Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem, will present a concert of sacred music for the prelates. The House will adjourn at noon on Friday, Nov. 17. Rev. Frederick Trumbore, rector of St. Clement's Church, committee to arrange for proper committee to arrange for proper altars and vestments at the Mass. The Rev. William McClelland, vicar of Prince of Peace Church, Dallas, is chairman of a committee to arrange transportation for the prelates.

John Crandall of Pocono Manor is chairman of the local arrangements committee.

Long Battles Mark Chess Encounters

DURING the past week, members of the Stroudsburg Chess Club kept their kings, queens, castles, and knights moving across the board with a well-attended meeting at the office of John M. Price, Club President, on Thursday night, and with extra engagements at the Penn-Stroud Hotel and at homes of members.

At the Thursday night session Frank Merwarth and Louis Mondelle staged three games, each of which demonstrated why these players are recognized as among the best in the club.

The first game required one and one-half hours to work out its many involved situations, the victory finally inclining to Mondelle. The second game was almost equally stubborn, this victory going to Merwarth and the third, easily the toughest of the three, turning out a draw.

Greatest number of games for the meeting involved Edward Bosman, East Stroudsburg, and A. J. Vlossak, of Mount Pocono. They played 11 games, six victories going to Vlossak and five to Bosman. Price and William P. Deering played two games dividing honors. In the first each player lost his queen early in the playing and the forces thus handicapped, did not hold out for long. Price won the contest. The second game was marked by an early advance on the part of Deering's king's flank, which rolled his opponent back, cutting off stragglers and never giving Price's army any chance to take over the initiative until he was forced to concede defeat. This was also a 90 minute game.

Six Games
Earl Weiss and Sidney Kushner, the latter the youngest member of the club, played six games. The victories were three and three.

Meanwhile Kushner's father, Joseph Kushner, champion of the club was making a yeoman defense of his title.

In his first game, however, he tackled his nearest rival for the championship, Harold James, and suffered defeat at the hands of the latter. The second game of a trio went the other way, however, and the champion won the third also, which was a particularly well played contest.

Weiss closed his session by defeating Deering in two contests. Another 90 minute game was featured by Mondelle and Deering at the Penn-Stroud last Saturday night, Deering taking the victory in spite of many ingenious moves by the East Stroudsburger. The latter, however, then took four of a series of five.

Last weekend Mondelle went down to defeat before Joseph Michaels of Minisink Hills, losing three games to this opponent and winning none. Deering and Bosman had two stubborn games which ended as draws. Deering defeated Price in one of these extra games.

Larsen Hurls Perfect Game - Yanks In Lead

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP) — Don Larsen, 27, a tall, temperamental New York Yankee, right-hander, pitched the first perfect game in World Series history today and beat Brooklyn's Sal Maglie 2-0. The triumph gave the Yanks a 3-2 edge after five games.

Retiring 27 successive Dodgers while 64,519 fans nibbled at their finger nails, Larsen drew an ear-splitting ovation as he whipped a third called strike past pinchhitter Dale Mitchell for the final out.

Not since Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox moved down Detroit for a perfect game, April 30, 1922, in a regular season American League game had a major league pitcher gone nine full innings without allowing a batsman to reach first base. In all the history of major league baseball only six pitchers have hurled perfect games.

When catcher, Yogi Berra grabbed that final strike he rushed to meet Larsen near the first base line and grabbed him in a bunny hug, completely leaving the ground in his joyous leap. The entire Yankee club gathered around the big 6-4 pitcher as he ploughed through a mass of humanity toward the dugout.

Only once did Larsen reach the count of three balls on a batter and that was Pee Wee Reese, who became a strikeout victim in the first inning. In all Larsen struck out seven, five of them on a called final strike.

An erratic in-and-out last year after he was acquired from Baltimore in an 18-man swap during the winter, Larsen was shunted to the Denver farm in midseason of 1955. He closed with a rush after his recall but lost his lone series start at Brooklyn.

Larsen changed his style midway in the 1956 season, shifting to a no-windup delivery that paid off with four September victories. In the second game of the current series he was yanked by Manager Casey Stengel in the second inning although he led 6-1 with the bases full and two out. The Yanks eventually lost that game 13-8.

The big fellow was hot from the very start, striking out Junior Gilliam and Reese, the first two men he faced. He had four of his strike outs at the end of three innings, mixing his breaking stuff with an occasional fast ball.

As Larsen came down the stretch, passing Herb Pennock's 1927 record of retiring 22 men in succession, the stands became alive. When he went into the ninth with the first series no-hitter in his grasp, they roared at every pitch. Pennock's record had been equaled by Schoolboy Rowe of Detroit in 1934.

Memories of Floyd (Bill) Bevens and his 8 2-3 hitless innings for the Yanks against the Dodgers in 1947 came back when Manager Walter Alton sent up Mitchell, a Cleveland castoff, to face the pitcher with two out and nobody on base. Everybody remembered how Cookie Lavagetto's pinch double had ruined Bevens that October afternoon and sent him reeling to the dressing room with a heart-breaking defeat.

Big Strikeout
Larsen threw a teasing ball to Mitchell. Then he came in with a called strike. Mitchell swung at the next and missed. He fouled a pitch to the left field stands, leaving Larsen still one pitch away from that shiny goal.

The final pitch slid past Mitchell who started to swing and then Pinelli, working his last series plate job at the age of 60, made the "out" sign. It was Larsen's 97th pitch of a beautifully-pitched ball game.

Until this perfect job, the closest any series pitcher ever came was a one-hitter. Ed Reulbach of the Chicago Cubs in 1906, Claude Passeau of the same Cubs in 1945 and Bevens had reached that peak.

Larsen had his closest call in the fifth when Mickey Mantle reached into left center to make a sensational backhanded catch of Gil Hodges long drive, always curling away from him as he ran. A few seconds later, little Sandy Amoros lined a ball into the right field stands, just barely foul.

A second-inning smash by Jackie Robinson almost got away for a base hit when it slanted off Andy Carey's glove toward shortstop Gil McDougald who just made the throw in time to get Jackie. Again in the seventh, with the pressure rising, McDougald dug out Gilliam's hard rap and threw him out.

Larsen's pitching was such a tremendous job that few paid attention to Maglie, the first game winner. Old Sal gave up only five hits, after matching Larsen pitch for pitch in the first 3-2-3 innings.

After sending 11 men back to the bench without one reaching base, Maglie was blasted for a home run by Mantle.

Mickey's drive into the lower right field seats came after he had fouled off a 2-2 pitch. It was close to the foul line. Mantle now has hit three homers in this series and eight in his career.

After Mantle's homer in the fourth, the Yanks picked up one more run in the sixth. Carey singled to center and Larsen, hunting with two strikes, sacrificed him to second. Hank Bauer then lashed a single to left, scoring Carey.

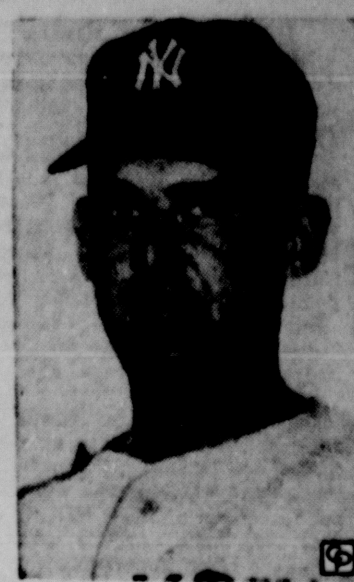

Undecided
With the fine pitching efforts by Tom Sturdivant yesterday and Larsen today, Manager Stengel's Yankees have fought back from a two-down deficit to lead 3-2 as the clubs return to Brooklyn for tomorrow's sixth game, and a seventh, if necessary, on Wednesday.

For the sixth game, Stengel said he was undecided between Johnny Kuck (18-9) and Bob Turley (8-4) who was supposed to have been the "big man" of that 18-man deal in 1955 with Baltimore instead of Larsen. Stengel said he wouldn't decide until tomorrow morning.

Alston singled out Clem Labine (10-6, his valuable relief man, for a starting job with Don Newcombe (27-7) following. Labine started only three games all season but pitched effectively against the Yanks in relief.

Larsen, born in Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 7, 1929, struggled through the minors to land with the doomed St. Louis Browns in 1953. He went to Baltimore with the franchise and led the league in defeats with a sorry 3-21 record in 1954. After his trade to the Yanks, who admired his hitting as much as his pitching, Larsen spent 1955 between New York and Denver.

When Larsen was involved in an auto accident at St. Petersburg, Fla., during spring training, Stengel overlooked the late hour violation because he was showing so much pitching ability. However, it was not until September when he won four games and allowed only 15 hits and two runs in 34 2-3 innings that he hit his real stride.

Big One

New Jersey Rich In Valuable Votes

By BELMAN MORIN
NEWARK, N.J., Oct. 9 (P)—Adlai E. Stevenson swung through six vote-rich counties in northern New Jersey recently.

Five of these went heavily against him in the 1952 presidential election. The sixth, Hudson, which usually rings up substantial Democratic majorities, squeaked through for him by a bare 51 per cent of its 315,000-plus votes. In short, this region was one of the strongest bastions of fortress Eisenhower four years ago.

It still seems so. On the recent tour, crowds that ranged from modest to small turned out to hear Stevenson, although the weather was warm and sunny. Some of his listeners carried "Ike and Dick" placards.

Best Audience
He got his best audience reactions when he hit the "small man" theme. Examples: "The Republicans are worried about the future of the well-to-do, not about the small man," and, "It's time to take this government away from General Motors and give it back to Joe Smith."

But little or nothing came back when he said the administration had failed in the fields of education, immigration policy, flood control, Soviet gains in the Middle East, etc.

Does all this indicate the complexion of voter opinion at this stage of the campaign?

Republicans say it does. They expect another steam-roller victory for President Eisenhower.

Democrats, speaking on or off the record, make no claims. Gov. Robert Meyner said, "I'm hopeful we will have a good Democratic showing." Another top leader said, "It's going to be mighty tough."

As to issues, a reporter talking with people around the state finds no burning feeling about most of the points both parties have been hitting in their campaign arguments.

Of them all, two seem to evoke a fair amount of response among the voters — the "small man" argument which probably is helping the Democrats, and peace, a Republican asset.

Retired Farmer
"Eisenhower's for big business and I'm getting along OK, but you ought to hear my boss complain." A retired farmer said, "they can talk all they want to, but he (the President) stopped our boys getting killed in Korea."

People give these answers, more often than any others, as the reasons for their preferences this year.

Lacking a great issue, the battle for New Jersey could resolve itself into a popularity contest between the two major parties, and between the President and Stevenson. In that case, history favors the Republicans.

Since 1900, New Jersey's electoral votes — now 22 — have gone to the Democrats in only five elections. Woodrow Wilson carried it once, Franklin D. Roosevelt four times.

Eisenhower won it by 339,000 votes, more than 57 per cent of the total cast, carrying 14 of the 21 counties.

His popularity seems undiminished.

Show
"He has done a good job," said a Passaic housewife. "He is a good, clean, honest man," said a cashier in a Trenton restaurant.

"They'll have to show me somebody better," said a taxi driver in Newark.

Apart from the President's strength, the Republicans are elated over present estimates on registration. It appears to be up, statewide, over 1952.

Hudson County, the Democratic stronghold, appears to be down. Figures are not fully compiled but the drop is indicated. So the Republicans feel they have been successful in getting out the vote.

The Democrats' hopes pivot largely on three points:

1. They say "the trend" in recent years has been toward them. They believe — and some Republicans agree — that a majority of new residents, coming from New York and other nearby states, are Democrats.

2. They claim they are better organized than they have been in many years.

3. They regard Gov. Meyner, who is handsome, affable and hard working, as an important asset. "I think we have acquired a reputation for integrity," a state leader said. "That should help."

PTA Session Featured At Clearview

A COUNTY wide PTA Workshop was held at Clearview School Saturday with approximately 50 in attendance. It was under the direction of Mrs. David Neison, county president.

The program was opened with a prayer lead by Richard Post and followed by a word of welcome from Ralph Knaut, Clearview principal.

Numa Snyder, music instructor, in the Stroud Union Schools led the audience in group singing. James Anthony accompanied at the piano.

County publications chairman, Mrs. Perry Sterns spoke of the numerous publications available for PTA work.

A report of the state dedication convention recently held in Harrisburg was given by Mrs. Lester Katz, county vice-president.

The workshop on program planning was conducted by Mrs. Layton Gearhart, county program chairman; Mrs. Russell Shupp and Willard Webster. They explained that the program is a planned adventure in community enrichment. It was stressed that it was more important to engage participation of members than of specialists. Program chairman should select a good committee to assist. They should plan the program early and obtain its approval by this executive committee. A copy of the program should be sent to the PTA Council and State chairman by Dec. 1.

Program qualifications are listed in the program pamphlet contained in the president's jacket. All specifications must be followed exactly.

Presentation
Good programs use a variety of presentation, such as the lecture, group discussion, buzz sessions, the panel, round table, symposium, debate, forum, the interview, the quiz, the demonstration, dramatization, films, etc.

When films are used they should be followed by group discussion. A film should be previewed by the discussion leader and a series of questions should be organized.

The audience was informed that the Audio-Visual Aid Society from Penn State provides film material on every category.

Mrs. Arthur Hughes, PTA state vice president and Mrs. James Kitchen, past county president spoke on "Policies and Duties."

They stressed the importance of referring to the PTA Manual frequently. The standing committees which they recommended were: Programs, Membership, budget and finance, public relations, hospitality, legislative, spiritual and citizenship.

The group was informed that a formal education was not necessary to be a good officer. It was more important to have a sincere desire to help children.

They suggested that officers pass on to their members information on how to make motions. Officers could obtain this information and any other information from their manuals.

Mrs. Alger Reese, district president spoke at a "Problem Clinic." She said that the main problems that PTA's experience are: poor attendance at meetings, obtaining good leaders and chairman and getting in reports.

To improve PTA meetings she suggested that the meeting be not too long; that an effort be made to make members feel welcome; that we select good programs; and that we keep meetings interesting.

Mrs. Harry Stoflet, financial chairman, and Mrs. Fred Manson, neighborhood chairman, head the campaign this year.

Captains are Mrs. Robert White, Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. Peter Rossignio, Mrs. Willard Schadel, Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. Warren Hendershot, Mrs. Paul DeNardo, Mrs. Lewis Parker, Mrs. George Branch, Mrs. Peter Fulin, Mrs. Nicholas Valletta, Mrs. Maurice Pritchard, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Richard Wolford, Mrs. Walter Beal, Mrs. Carlton Strunk, Mrs. Jacob Dietrich and Mrs. Allen Jackson.

Theaters in Germany in 1955 presented 1,900 plays and 636 concerts to audiences of 17 million.

Senior Youth Fellowship Installs List Of Members

ON SUNDAY cabinet members of the Senior Youth Fellowship of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church were installed in a most unique and inspiring ceremony.

In keeping with the trend of World Wide Communion, the candle lit Altar portrayed the sacred scene of the Lord's supper. As in the Upper Room of long ago a banquet table was set for 13 persons. The center chair, draped in white, was left vacant to denote the presence of our Lord.

Either End
On either end and in the center of the table burned white candles. At the end of the sacrament two members sitting on either side of the draped chair lit their small individual candles from the large center candle.

By chain fashion a candle was lighted by each cabinet member and member of the congregation. The burning candles indicated that God through His disciples is still ever present.

Participating in the ceremonies were Woodrow Ebersold, prayer; Alfred LaBar, pledge; James Miller, scout oath; and Earl Van Doren, benediction.

The U.S. Post Office Department purchased 2,000 bicycles for postmen use in the next fiscal year.

Senior Class Holds Dance

NEWFOUNDLAND—Senior Class of Greene-Dreher-Sterling Joint School held one of its major activities of the year Friday night, when the Trail Riders provided music for the Senior Dance.

Lovely decorations were arranged by a committee including Eleanor Gilpin, Patsy Sweeney, Sylvester Basler, and Diana Krautter. Earl McLain is president of the class.

Proceeds of the dance will be used to underwrite costs of the Senior Class trip to Washington, D. C. in the Spring.

Special Hikes Planned
NEWFOUNDLAND — Halloween weekend has been set aside at the LaAnna Youth Hostel for hiking enthusiasts of the Pocono-Susquehanna Youth Hostel Council. Special events have been planned by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rees, local host and hostess to the hikers.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Richard Lindsey, Mrs. Tess Weber; Mrs. Russell Pritchard; Mrs. Edward German; and Mrs. Helen Bush.

The workshop was voted a success by those attending. It was agreed that another workshop would be desired next May.

Plans Made For Float

BANGOR — Plans were made for the placing of a float in the local Halloween parade Wednesday, October 31, during the weekly meeting of Troop 102, Boy Scouts, in the Lutheran Scout Hall.

It was also decided to work on the painting of the benches in the Lutheran Grove last Saturday.

John Pysker, scoutmaster, was in charge. Plans to hold a howling party in the future were also discussed.

Participating in the ceremonies were Woodrow Ebersold, prayer; Alfred LaBar, pledge; James Miller, scout oath; and Earl Van Doren, benediction.

The U.S. Post Office Department purchased 2,000 bicycles for postmen use in the next fiscal year.

ELECTRIC COOKING

CLEAN electric cooking means less work for you in more ways than one. First, electric cooking is flameless, as clean as electric lighting. The easy proof is to rub a white glove, towel or handkerchief over the outer surfaces of a pot or pan just used on an electric range. It comes away white as before!

Second, with flameless electric cooking, walls, ceilings, and curtains stay bright and clean longer!

Yes, nothing measures up to clean electric cooking. It's safe, fast and automatic, too! So order your electric range from your local electric appliance dealer today!

THIS HOBBY'S NOT FOR STUFFY PEOPLE—Nancy Bitterman, 10, East Stroudsburg, has a hobby of collecting stuffed animals. This week she got a present. It was in the form of this king-size equine art exhibit donated by group of boys at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Made of paper mache, it stands two hands taller than 13-year-old Mary Lou Whittaker, East Stroudsburg, who's shown here holding the reins. Nancy put horse on display at annual farm show in Smithfield School. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Viewing the Screens

THE SIXTH AND perhaps the final game of the World Series will be played at Ebbets Field today. It will be on the air at 12:45 p.m. on ch. 3, 4, 9, and 11, and on Radio Station WYPO.

Small Speaks To Students At School

NEWFOUNDLAND — Joseph Small, past president of Stroudsburg Rotary Club, detailed for students at Greene-Dreher-Sterling Joint School here, the "four way test" for establishing fair play principles in all activities.

Introduced by Henry Arneberg, South Sterling, a past president of the Newfoundland Rotary Club and a member of the school faculty, Small explained there are four points upon which all actions should be based.

Questions
"Ask yourself," Small told the assembly, "Is it the truth? Is it fair to all concerned? Will it build good will and better friendship? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?"

A framed copy of the test was presented by Small to the school with the compliments of the Stroudsburg club.

Dr. A. V. Lupcho and John Tobey, as well as Henry Arneberg, represented the Newfoundland organization at the program held during a school assembly.

Rozanne Turtzo Named Librarian

BANGOR — Rozanne Turtzo was elected librarian by the Future Teachers Club of Bangor Area Joint High School during the club meeting at the school last week.

Members also voted to assume hall duty on Education Night. Joan Gregor, president, was in charge. Slides contributed to the program.

Also present were Carol Owens, Robin Snoddy, Carol Ronco, Sherry Gloss, Maureen Avery, Geraldine Ruch, Judy Evans, Gail Joella, Ruth Commins, Kay Hughes, Josephine Impecciall, Fran Heard and the advisor, Dr. Anson Hamm.

Bangor Couples Visit Bermuda

BANGOR—Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Falcone, of Bangor, and Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Pinto, of Easton, left Saturday from LaGuardia Airport, New York, for a week's stay in Bermuda. Dr. Falcone will resume his practice here next Friday, Oct. 12.

Mrs. Pinto is the former Eleanor Scaleria, a member of the local high school faculty for a number of years.

Date Announced For Parade

PEN ARGYL—The annual Halloween parade in Pen Argyl will be held on Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m. and in the event of rain the parade will be held on Oct. 25. The Pen Argyl Exchange Club is sponsoring the parade.

Clarence Farleigh is general chairman. He said last night that several musical organizations have already indicated their intention of entering the parade.

18-Year-Olds Must Register For Draft

LT. COL. HENRY M. Gross, state director of Selective Service for Pennsylvania, said yesterday there is a continuing responsibility for young men reaching 18 years of age to register under the Universal Military Training and Service Act.

Col. Gross said a young man is required to register within five days after reaching his 18th birthday. Those young men who are away from their homes at that time may go to any local board in the area where they are situated and register for Selective Service.

Attention
The state director called attention to the necessity of giving the proper home address because the address given will determine the local board having jurisdiction of his case at all time.

Gross pointed out that failure to comply with the law could result in a punishment of not more than five years imprisonment or not more than $10,000 fine or both.

State Spends $596,921.84 During County Debris Clearance

186,480 Feet Of Streams Involved

STATE Department of Forests and Waters announced yesterday it has already spent a total $596,921.84 in debris clearance work in Monroe County.

District Engineer James W. Bailey said this amount is included in the $749,807.76 which the State had spent in the three-county area of Monroe, Pike and Wayne Counties, as of Sept. 26.

Bailey said a total 186,480 feet of stream has been cleared in Monroe County at a cost of $455,767.24, or at an estimated average of $1.76 a foot. In addition, other projects are nearing completion in Monroe County, and are expected to cost another $141,154.60.

The department has also cleared some 15,127 feet of stream in Wayne County at a cost of $28,991.51, Bailey said further. Another $10,220.50 in work is nearing completion in the neighboring county.

District Engineer Bailey said that projects, which will cost an estimated $113,763.91, are almost finished in Pike County.

Six other projects are presently scheduled for construction in the three-county area, Bailey said. Several others are awaiting approval from Harrisburg, or for the necessary rights-of-entry.

Bailey gave this breakdown of stream clearance work completed in Monroe County as of Sept. 26:

Broadhead Creek, Barrett Township, 13,200 feet, at a cost of $14,638.03; Broadhead, Price Township, 32,736 feet, $71,842.08; Broadhead, Stroud Township, 42,240 feet, $125,266.35; Pocono Creek, Hamilton Township, 10,032 feet, $24,121.75; Pocono Stroud Township, $42,249.13; Buck Hill Creek, Barrett Township, 31,680 feet, $39,962.73; Paradise Creek, Paradise Township, 25,872 feet, $51,239.77; Swiftwater Creek, Paradise and Pocono Townships, 16,896 feet, $23,112.01; Tank Creek, Coolbaugh Creek and Yankee Run, Paradise Township, 13,728 feet, $13,810.88; Devils Hole, Coolbaugh Township, 15,312 feet, $36,863.38; and Lewis, Branch, Barrett Township, 14,784 feet, $22,530.13, for a total 186,480 feet at a cost of $455,767.24.

The following work has been completed in Wayne County: Mill Creek, Dreher Township, 9,978 feet, at a cost of $18,837.50; and Nineteen Mile Run, Dreher Township, 5,152 feet, $10,154.01, for a total 15,127 feet at a cost of $28,991.51.

Projects nearing completion in Monroe County: Broadhead Creek, Smithfield Township, $20,126.75 estimated cost; Goose Pond Run, Barrett Township, $11,516; Pocono Creek, Pocono Township, $44,063.46; Mill Creek, Barrett Township, $13,410.63; Bushkill Creek, Middle Smithfield Township, $52,037.76, for a total $141,154.60.

Work almost completed in Wayne County: Butternut Creek, Sterling Township, $7,302.50; Rockport Creek, Sterling and Dreher Townships, $2,918, for a total $10,220.50.

Nearing Completion
The following projects are nearing completion in Pike County: Shohola Creek, Shohola Township, $19,009.75; Wallenpaupack, $88,493.66; Balliet Creek, Shohola Township, $6,260.50, for a total $113,763.91.

Bailey said the following projects are scheduled for construction: Middle Branch, Barrett Township, Monroe County; Sugar Hill Creek, East Branch, Wallenpaupack and Bridge Creek, all in Greene Township, Pike County; Manny Run, Dreher Township, and Urban Creek, Sterling Township, both in Wayne County.

Monroe County projects awaiting approval from Harrisburg involve Spruce Cabin Run, Barrett Township; Butz Run, Pocono Township; Forest Hills Run, Coolbaugh Township; and Tobyhanna Creek, Coolbaugh and Tobyhanna Townships.

Pike County projects awaiting approval involve Kleinhans Creek, Palmyra Township; Freeing Run, and Taylor Creek, both in Greene Township.

New projects will be scheduled for construction on West Branch and Salem Townships in Wayne County following approval from Harrisburg.

The following projects are awaiting the necessary rights-of-entry: Appenzell Creek, Hamilton Township, Monroe County; Greene's Run, Dreher Township, Wayne County; Vandermark

Nine Fire Companies From Monroe County Take Part In Parade Through Stroudsburgs

FIREFIGHTERS FROM ALL over Monroe County last night went on parade through the twin boroughs in observance of National Fire Prevention Week.

Led by the East Stroudsburg High School Band, the volunteers paraded down Main St., across the interborough bridge into East Stroudsburg, then went up Washington St. to Crystal, before breaking up at the Acme Hose Co. headquarters.

Behind the band, were volunteers and apparatus from East Stroudsburg, Stroud Township, Mount Pocono, Barrett Township, Pocono Township, Marshalls Creek, Jackson Township, Pocono Pines and Stroudsburg.

Others in the line of march were members of the Civil Defense Auxiliary Fire unit, and the C-D boat division, and the Stroudsburg High School Band.

A main attraction was Stroudsburg's 1872 steamer. Jack Wyckoff, chairman of the Fire Prevention Week committee, thanked all who helped to make the parade a success.

Assistant Chief Robert Phillips of the Stroudsburg Fire Department reported that the local volunteers will hold "open house" at headquarters, beginning at 7 tonight. The Pocono Band will present a concert at the fire house.

The Stroudsburg firefighters will conduct a pumping demonstration at Fifth and Main Sts., at 7 p.m. tomorrow, at which time all types of hose streams will be demonstrated.

At 7 p.m., Thursday, open house will again be featured in Stroudsburg.

A ladder and rescue demonstration will be featured at Sixth and Main Sts., at 7 p.m., Friday. Stroudsburg's new 100 foot aerial ladder truck and its 1872 steamer will be displayed on Main St. on Saturday.

Pocono Resort Association To Elect Official Slate

A BUSY AGENDA, highlighted by the election of new officers, will face the Eastern Pocono Resort Association at its annual Fall meeting Wednesday night at Tom-X Ranch, East Stroudsburg RD 1.

William Altier, president, said Rep. Van D. Yetter (D-Monroe) will report on prospects for highway construction in the area. His talk will touch on the proposed Stroudsburgs Thruway project and explain how it will link up with Routes 196 and 402 in the Eastern Poconos.

MORA Club To Celebrate Arbor Day

MORA CLUB (Men of Retirement Age) are making elaborate plans for celebrating Arbor Day. They will meet as usual at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the YMCA and will go in a group at 2:30 to Morey School.

Plans have been made for La-Bar's Nursery to plant an Arbor Day Tree in front of the school. Roger Dunning, superintendent of Stroud Union Elementary schools will preside over the meeting.

Mora Club members and other participants in the event will meet first at the side of the school, where traffic noises will not interfere. It is anticipated that in addition to the club members and the children of the school there will be many others viewing and taking part in the ceremony.

Short Addresses

At the side of the school there will be short addresses by Jesse Flory, John R. Wilson, Ted Hoffman and Dunning. Morey School children of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will sing a verse of America under direction of their music teacher, Miss Alice Belairs, then in front of the school they will sing another stanza, followed by a rendition of America The Beautiful and the very appropriate song "Trees".

Mrs. Gladys C. Weitzel, school principal will head all school activities.

State Convocation To Bring 100 Y-Gradale Delegates To Stroudsburg On Weekend

The Stroudsburg Chapter of Y-Gradale will be host to the 25th annual Y-Gradale State Convocation to be held here this Saturday and Sunday at the YMCA with 100 delegates from 35 chapters joining with state officers. Theme of the convocation is "Strength Through Fellowship."

Mrs. Russell F. Scheller, of Stroudsburg, president of the state Y-Gradale, will be in charge of the Saturday session beginning with registration at 12 noon and the first session opening at 2.

Reports and workshops will be held on Saturday afternoon. The reports will include those of the World Conference of the YMCA in Paris, France, the continental congress in Ontario, and the Blue Ridge conference for 1957 in North Carolina. Workshops will be held on phases of club program.

Highlights of the day will be the Saturday night banquet in the Y with Rev. W. Hamilton Aulenbach, pastor of Christ Church and St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Germantown as keynote speaker. In great demand as a commencement speaker, he served in the U. S. Navy and has been active in the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and YMCA.

A panel discussion with Rev. Aulenbach, Mrs. LeRoy Horst, national Y-Gradale president, and Mrs. Russell F. Scheller will follow the main address. Tom Waring will be featured entertainment. Mrs. James Farry will be toastmaster and Rev. Harold MacMurray, Mountaintop, will give the invocation.

Sunday morning sessions will feature workshops on the "Four Pearls of Y-Gradale," and election of officers to be installed following church services at 11 a. m. at the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church which delegates will attend in a group. The congregation and public is invited to attend the installation to be held in the church sanctuary.

At the luncheon on Sunday, Thomas Leinbach, superintendent of the Community Hospital, will be the guest speaker. Moderator of the TV Show, "The People's Business," Leinbach has received many awards for civic activities including director of V. of P. evening extension courses for 20 years, president of Eastern Regional Hospital Association health agencies, county chairman of Red Cross for 10 years. He was a semi-pro ball player for 25 years and scout for the Philadelphia Athletics.

Legion Aux. Installs Officers

Dingmans Ferry — Installation of officers of American Legion Auxiliary of Tilghman-Angle-Smith Post was held at the Post Home on Route 209. Mrs. Frida Loxing, Central Sector Director, accompanied Mrs. Hazel Hill, drove from Honesdale to conduct the installation of the following officers:

President, Mrs. Harriet Jagger; 2nd vice-president, Miss Mabel Bensley; secretary, Mrs. Mary Albright; treasurer, Mrs. Vira Bryan; historian, Mrs. Elsie Bensley. Installed in absentia were 1st vice-president, Mrs. Mary Hoffman; chaplain, Mrs. Hazel Dyer; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Eva Kintner.

Following her "charge to the officers," Mrs. Loxing conducted an informal discussion on financial obligations, coupon collecting, parade uniforms, membership, and other phases of the Auxiliary program.

Caravan To Visit In Barrett On Thursday

Barrett — The First Fall meeting of the Sewing Circle was held at the Canadensis Methodist Church on October 4. The following officers were elected:

President, Ethel Stern; vice president, Helen Seder; treasurer, Liza Price; secretary, Eleanor Gray. Plans were made for a covered dish luncheon to be served at the church on Thursday, October 11, at 11:30 a. m.

Members of the WSCS group from surrounding churches are invited to join the circle at 1:30 that day to greet the District Caravan.

Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

It's hard to manage a big hat in a high wind, so it's a good thing that the Women's Club members were well weighted down with furs as they sailed into the luncheon yesterday. Once inside, however, all was serene.

Ordinarily, Women's Club meetings are full of good works and high resolve, but this first luncheon is the time for fellowship and flattery—and they had both. I can even report a trend—white hats, big and furry, for club presidents.

Jeannette Flieger started it at DAR. Mary Leister followed suit at Woman's Club, and Jayne Hoffman appears set to carry on the tradition if she wears the same hat when Stroud Community Club opens on Thursday.

In fact there were a lot of handsome white hats at the meeting. And even more feathers. For having the most fine feathers it

Bridal Shower Is Held For Nancy Hartman

A personal bridal shower was held recently by Mrs. Royal Brown honoring Miss Nancy Louise Hartman at her home in Cherry Valley. Miss Hartman is to be married on Saturday, October 13, to W. Clyde Miller of East Stroudsburg RD 3.

Gifts were assembled under a shower umbrella, decorated in the bride theme. Mrs. Helen Diamond won prizes for games. A buffet supper was served at a table decorated with wedding bells and streamers.

The guest list included Mrs. Katherine Williams, Mrs. Agnes Hennett, Mrs. Helen Diamond, Mrs. Jeannette Batory, Mrs. Jacob Klingel Sr., Miss Mary Battista, Mrs. Betty Shaffer, Miss Barbara Klingel, Mrs. Joyce Chamberlain, Mrs. Grace LaBar, Mrs. Ada Bugle, Mrs. Margaret Faulstick, Mrs. Ruth Nichols, Mrs. Beverly Hartman, Mrs. Bertha Williams, Miss Alice Williams, Mrs. Edna Shafer, Mrs. Emma Jane Strunk, Mrs. Agnes Gunn, Mrs. Ernest Williams, Mrs. Mary Jane Lucerd, Miss Katherine Hennett and Mrs. Jacob Z. Hartman.

Others sending gifts included Mrs. Erva Dunlap, Mrs. Millicent Allegar, Mrs. Betty Brands, Mrs. Margaret Miller, Miss Ruby Hinton, Mrs. Lena Hartman, Miss Ruth-Ann Price, Miss Verna Blakeslee, Mrs. Mary Voss, and Mrs. Hilda Hauck.

Bazaar, Booth Festival Set For October

Poplar Valley—A bazaar, sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Poplar Valley Church will be held on Friday, October 12, at the social hall. A refreshment sale will begin at 7:30 p. m., featuring home-made ice cream, under the direction of Mrs. Leon Parcell, chairman.

A booth festival is scheduled for St. Luke's Church on October 24. Paul Albert, chairman of the display, asked members to have garden produce and canned foods ready, together with clothing for the Philadelphia Fifth Street Mission. Mrs. Brewer will assist in collections.

Collections of another kind were scheduled for the near future when members will collect paper, rags and junk. Mrs. Wilfred Wagner was named "salesman of the year" for selling the most serving spoons.

Other announcements made at the all-day meeting of the WSCS included the Halloween party being sponsored by the Intermediate Class for Thursday, October 25 to which all members of the church are invited, and the luncheon meeting of the WSCS at the home of Mrs. Ernest Brewer on Nov. 7.

In addition to the business meeting, members had a busy day, beginning with baking doughnuts in the morning. They plan to bake the first and third Tuesdays of each month. Mrs. C. Clyde Levergood was hostess at the noon pot-luck luncheon.

Mrs. Ernest Brewer presided at the business meeting, and Mrs. Paul Albert conducted the devotion. A vote of thanks was given the anonymous workers who have kept the church lawn mowed, made electrical repairs and done carpentry work and supplied firewood.

The group also discussed revival services to be held at the church during the week of Nov. 4, opening with a dedication service.

Womans Club Luncheon Opens New Year Of Activity

The Stroudsburg Woman's Club, preparing for a busy year of service, opened their club year with a leisurely luncheon yesterday with emphasis on fellowship and entertainment, the entertainment provided by Helen S. Baumart in her dramatic and humorous readings.

Mrs. Baumart, who is also president of the Easton Woman's Club, varied her program with original monologues on "The Beau of Bath," "Nurse's Night Out," "Off for the Weekend," and a series of musical readings with Miss Bess Gardner as accompanist.

Fellowship came through the luncheon with fall flowers, autumn leaf place cards, and new fall hats adding bright notes of color. Mrs. Claude Leister, president, presided, introducing her officers and presenting the life members: Mrs. W. Dolby Palmer, Mrs. T. F. Rhodes, Mrs. C. C. Scholla and Mrs. J. C. LeBar, and other past presidents.

Also introduced were the committee-of-three which heads the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs: Mrs. Theodore Hoffman, Mrs. Richard McDonough, and Mrs. Leister. Mrs. Hoffman, on behalf of the hostess Stroud Community Club, invited the members to the county federation meeting on October 23, beginning at 4 p. m., at the Penn-S road Hotel.

Yearbooks were presented, and Mrs. Leister reported on highlights of the state conference. The pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. T. Manning Curtis and the invocation was given by Mrs. Harold C. Eaton. Mrs. Samuel O. Wells III was in charge of the program and luncheon arrangements and decorations were made by Mrs. William Hannas, Mrs. Walter Weber, Mrs. Walter Werkheiser and Mrs. Oscar J. Liljenstein.

Favors souvenir hats and balloons were presented to each guest and refreshments were served after the games.

Those present were Ernest and Leon Werkheiser, Frankie Smiley, Johnny, Terry and Susan Young, Sherry, Linda and Gail March, Peggy Heckman, Linda Vogt, Linda and Susan LaBade, Stevie and Pamela Read, Linda Konwalki, Allyn and Lisa McElwain, Shirley, Cathy and Gary Berger, Kenzie Siptroth and Billy and Diane LaBar.

Adults present were Mrs. John Konwalki, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bittenbender, Mrs. Leon Werkheiser, Mr. and Mrs. Orna LaBar, Miss Elsie Heller, Mrs. Elwood Heller, Mrs. Lester Marsh, Mrs. Doyle Young, Mrs. Betty Berger and Mr. and Mrs. William LaBar.

Home Crafts Organized By Ferry Women

Dingman's Ferry—The Dingman's Ferry Home Economics Group held its first meeting of the season last week at the home of Mrs. Carl Schneider. Miss Hilda Haskell, state extension home economist in Pike County, gave a talk on the subject of fabrics, discussing the natural fiber materials like cotton and wool, as well as the new synthetics. The group was instructed in the best methods of using, handling and cleaning the different materials.

Miss Haskell then introduced a discussion of the type of program the women wish for the balance of the year and several sessions were planned. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 16, at the home of Mrs. Theodore Weber on Silver Lake Road. At that time several women will start work on copper planters. Women not so engaged will help make favors for the annual dinner of the Pike County Agricultural Extension Association which is to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the Raymondskill Valley Grange Hall. Included in the program after the dinner will be a piano duet by two members of this Home Ec group, Mrs. Sophie Ludwig and Mrs. Hazel Irvine.

Any women in the Dingman's Ferry area who are interested in homemaking and crafts are invited to join this group. For further information they may call the group leader, Mrs. Carl Schneider, Dingman's Ferry 8173.

Goodhart-Metz

A quiet wedding was performed on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran Church. The Rev. P. N. Wohlsten, D. D., officiated. The single ring ceremony was used when Mrs. May S. Metz of Pottstown, became the bride of Arthur A. Goodhart of the same place. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Arndt also of Pottstown. The bride was attired in a traveling suit and wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids. The groom is a painting contractor in Pottstown. They plan to take a wedding trip to Florida next week.

Community Card Party In Bushkill

Bushkill—Mrs. Joseph Kutay has announced that the community card party will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 17 at the firehouse. This party is being sponsored by the Bushkill Garden Club with expectations of a full house.

Proceeds from this party will be used to purchase necessary lighting equipment for the community Christmas tree. The tree has been a project of the garden club for the past several years and it is the desire of the club to purchase the necessary materials rather than borrow them as was the practice during past years.

The help of the community is needed to make this affair successful making possible the enjoyment of seeing the 30 foot tree along Route 209 ablaze with light at Christmastime. If you wish tickets you may call Mrs. Kutay or address the Bushkill Garden Club secretary, Mrs. Argus Miller.

Mrs. Williams President Of Music Boosters

Tannersville—The music Boosters of Pocono Township School met on Monday night, October 1, in the school library, with Mrs. Joseph Williams, president, in the chair.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

So far as I can determine, the hens haven't started laying 'em that shape, but nothing is too surprising these days. However, if you'd like square poached eggs, Mary Hitesman's department has the answer in a new square pan holding four individual square eggs. Breakfast is squarately a delicious meal these mornings!

If your kitchen isn't as bright as a new penny, you're not as modern as you might be. Copper is certainly a new high on home front popularity, what with moids of it decorating the walls, bottoms of it adding to the beauty and efficiency of utensils, coatings of it wrapping canisters, sets in bright glamour, and now tasters being made of it! Tinsmiths' new copper creation is one of those things of beauty that will might be a joy forever—for copper wears and wears. The price is $2.50 and the advantages are many. See it if you're buying a wedding or shower gift, or in a home beautifying mood . . . Margie Hunt tells me her son was more than thrilled to find, in the late Franklin Roosevelt's collection at Hyde Park, a combination flashlight and magnifying glass identical to one he owns. President Roosevelt used his to facilitate stamp collecting. We sell the very same thing in our Wyckoff stationery department . . . Angel cakes need no longer be round with a hole in the center. I discover in prowling around our housewares department. We are now stocking a West Bend aluminum angel cake pan 13½ inches long, 4½ inches deep, and 4¼ inches wide, that sells for 2.63. The advantages, we're told, are a greater number of servings, greater ease in decorating, level serving for topping with ice cream or fruits, and prolonged freshness. The one about level servings makes sense to me. After all, an angel should ALWAYS be on the level! . . . Pyrex has an attractive new line of instant coffee makers. These are of heavy glass decorated with a starburst in brass-tone. The handle is black, the removable top is actually a very thin brass shield, and there is a wrought iron stand with warming candle. The prices are 6.95 and 7.95 depending upon size. These are just two of many lovely coffee makers and servers, in glass, ceramic, or china, designed for stunning hospitality . . . Wouldn't you know that Betty Frantz, of our Wyckoff display department, would have just about the loveliest colors imaginable in her home, and that everything would be "picture perfect"? Betty and her Don entertained Dottie Sturdevant, Blanche Mackey and me this past Friday night at dinner, and my only complaint was that an hour was certainly not enough time in which to do justice to both the sightseeing, at hand AND Betty's southern fried chicken. I can tell you this, however—the kitchen is gaily pink, white, and gray, and Betty has made some adorable curtains from Wyckoff fabrics; the living room has delicate green walls; beautiful slip covers in delicate green, gold, and multi-tone figure, and matching draw draperies, made by our very efficient Wyckoff workroom. As for the chicken, it was the best ever. That gal Betty didn't leave good cooking at home when she left Chattanooga! . . . The Tiffin glass company of Ohio has just shipped us three candy dishes that retail at 7.50 and rate your personal attention next time you visit our gift department if you like having the blues around you! The shade defies description, but it's absolutely heavenly with the sun shining through!

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elizabeth Evans and Mrs. Olive Merring to Mrs. Mary Post, Mrs. Vivian Butz, Mrs. Henrietta George, Mrs. Anna Serfass, and Mrs. Freda Colvin.

Casement Type Windows Can Be Fitted With Aluminum Eagle-Pichers

IF YOUR NEW HOME has casement type windows you can still enjoy the benefits and advantages of aluminum storm windows. Joseph G. DeRenzi & Son, distributors of Eagle-Picher aluminum storm enclosures, 21 N. Sixth St., has a casement storm enclosure which offers you four distinct advantages. Eagle-Picher aluminum casement storm enclosures are installed on the outside and easily removed from inside the house on most homes... and in only a matter of seconds. But, most important of all, they are unusually tight-fit and assure rattle-proof, positive protection against winter's chilly blasts. Fuel savings up to 30% quickly repay the cost of the storm windows. Built-in stainless steel weather-stripping is available and cork-seal insulator strips help minimize bothersome condensation. Both of these features mean maximum fuel savings and winter comfort. Eagle-Picher casement storm enclosures also move with the primary window, allowing automatic ventilation; no added levers or handles. At Joseph G. DeRenzi & Son you'll find a staff of window and door experts who are ready and eager to assist you. Economical You can afford Eagle-Picher storm enclosures, for remember, they quickly repay their cost in fuel savings alone. Also, DeRenzi & Son is FHA approved; you need no money down and can take up to 36 months to pay. For a free engineered survey of your home, without cost or obligation, phone or visit Joseph G. DeRenzi & Son.

Wyckoff's Sewing Center Displays Necchi Pushbutton

NECCHI SEWING Machine's famous "pushbutton" model is being featured now at A. B. Wyckoff's. This wonderful new machine makes plain or decorative sewing "as easy as pushing your doorknob." Necchi, with the "pushbutton" model, is bringing automatic sewing into a new era. In which almost any type of needle work—embroidery, buttonholes, monograms, reinforced seams, or ordinary mending—are accomplished as simply as sewing a straight seam! Not only is Necchi an efficient machine, it's also an attractive piece of furniture for your home, which will fit in with the decorating color scheme of almost any room in the house. The Wyckoff Sewing Center also carries an extensive line of accessories for your sewing nook, including a sewing chair which has a big roomy drawer for thread, scissors and other material concealed beneath its seat.

Lighting Important
ONE OF the most important aspects of good kitchen planning, is proper lighting. All work areas should have good overhead lighting that doesn't cast shadows. Lighting arrangements should be checked each time a new appliance is installed, specialists say.

Plan Arrangement
WHEN YOU are planning a room arrangement, your writing and reading areas should be placed away from traffic lines and as far from other groupings as is possible.

Rust-Oleum Saves Metal

HERE'S the modern, practical way to save even badly rusted metal surfaces—a way that usually eliminates sandblasting, chemical pre-cleaning and other costly surface preparations.

Simply scrape and wirebrush to remove rust scale and loose rust—then brush Rust-Oleum 769 Damp-Proof Red Primer right over the remaining rust.

Easy as that to cut maintenance costs, and save even badly rusted metal—because Rust-Oleum's specially-processed fish oil base penetrates rust to bare metal incorporating the rust particles into the coating.

You beautifully as you protect, because Rust-Oleum is available in practically all colors, including aluminum and white. It dries free of objectionable odor to a firm, decorative coating that resists salt water, salt air, sun, fumes, heat. But you have to try it yourself to "get the feel" of Rust-Oleum; see how easy it is to use—its self-leveling—leaves no brushmarks; to see how many ways it can save you money on gutters, pipes, machinery, equipment, trucks, beams, metal sash, wire fences, stacks, girders, etc. Try it on your rust problem.

Rust-Oleum is available in this area at the Pocono Paint-Up Center, 722 Main St., Stroudsburg. These particles are suspended in a vehicle that binds the coat of paint to a surface.

Particles Of Paint
PAINT DERIVES its color and opacity from particles of pigment.

Solid Cherry Open Stock Is Featured

MONROE COUNTY'S oldest furniture store has completely stocked its store with one of the finest lines of furniture and at moderate prices. Solid cherry wood in an "old fashioned" color is now available in all the choice finishes at A. C. Miller's, Stroudsburg.

This cherry open stock grouping is manufactured in Jamestown, N. Y., from select cherry lumber cut from the forests of North-western Pennsylvania and New York State. The handsome groupings for living room, dining room and bedroom are all open stock with many pieces designed after old colonial originals. Others are designed specifically for the ease of modern living. The factory given name for this fine furniture is "Monticello Cherry".

Each piece is constructed and finished to last; all drawers are center drawer glided and dust proof. Just about every conceivable style is available whether your choice is modern, contemporary or colonial.

A. C. Miller is proud to present this budget-priced open stock to those who love the "old fashioned style" with the new look.

Living room tables of every description, bedroom groupings, or whatever you might be shopping for, you'll find Miller's selection complete.

Novelty Water Bench
One of the pieces which command a lot of attention and is very popular is the novelty Amish water bench.

You'll find it truly worth the time to come in and see the Monticello Cherry groupings. Also in stock for those who appreciate fine furniture of other select woods are solid mahogany "Dorothy Robinson" groupings for bedroom and dining room... or perhaps a look at "Cushman Colonial" for those who prefer maple. The traditional high quality Cushman line is available in your choice of many shades and finishes: red, harvest brown, or light tan. Latest addition in styling is the new Cushman contemporary modern so popular for today's easy going, informal living.

All of these groups are made of the finest solid woods available to the manufacturer and embodying all of the skill that skilled craftsmen can impart. Remember "There's Something New Everyday" at A. C. Miller's Furniture Store, 4th and Main Sts. in Stroudsburg.

Car Fenders Need Repair?

ABOUT ONE out of every four passenger cars in the United States needs fender straightening or some other type of body work. That adds up to about 12,000,000 cars, according to an estimate by a large automotive financing firm. If your car figures in this classification, why not drive into Haynes Motors, N. Ninth St., for a free estimate on having those dents removed? Better yet, why not swap the car for one of those beautiful new 1957 Fords? When you see them, you'll agree with Jess Haynes: "Ford is again first with the finest!"

Hunters may go into the field a half hour before sunrise and remain until sunset, Doehling pointed out. That means they

Thousands Worship In Bangor Area

BANGOR—Thousands of Protestants in the Bangor area filled local churches Sunday morning in celebration of World Wide Holy Communion by all denominations. Several churches of the area marked the sacraments at both the morning and night services while others only at the morning service.

The congregation of the First United Evangelical Church observed the Lord's Supper at the 11 a.m. service as well as the 7 p.m. worship hour. This was also the case at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. B. P. Gieske is the pastor of the Evangelical Church and the Rev. Warren Hackman, pastor of the Methodist Church.

Rev. J. C. Brumbaugh, pastor, conducted the Holy Communion service Sunday morning in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church. In the Trinity Lutheran Church, Rev. William E. Dennis, pastor, conducted two morning Holy Communion services as the faithful flocked to Bangor area churches.

Holy Communion was also observed in the Presbyterian Church with Rev. Roland Caterrall, conducting assisted by Richard Werner, Griffith D. Pritchard, John Deshler and Carl Gilbert, elders of the congregation. Rev. Henry C. Wray, pastor of the Mackey Memorial Baptist had charge of the Holy Communion service in that church, before a capacity congregation.

Rally Day

Rally Day was observed in the Ackermanville Evangelical United Brethren Church with special services. A combined Sunday School and Worship service marked the morning observance while Sunday afternoon Rev. Dr. C. W. Killo, Pen Argyl, was the guest speaker at the annual Church Homecoming and Rally. Music for the services was provided by the Sunday School Orchestra conducted by Gerald Reimel of Bangor.

A large audience attended the State Belt Youth Rally held Friday night in the Bangor Area Joint High School Auditorium. The program featured vocal trio numbers by the White Sisters, Faye, Janet and Joyce, famed radio and television artists, who have appeared with Arthur Godfrey and others. Their accompanist was Miss Patricia Cahill.

Another presentation featured a missionary film on Brazil entitled, "Before the Harvest" devoted to the life of the hostile Indians that live in that country. Robert Emerick, East Bangor, rendered a trumpet solo. He was accompanied by Miss Janet Willis. Group singing for the service was led by Gilmore Honey, Pen Argyl.

Rev. A. M. Herman, pastor of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church of Bangor, offered the invocation and the Rev. E. L. Heiser, Pen Argyl, gave the benediction. It was announced that the next State Belt Youth Rally would be held on Nov. 22 in the Blue Valley Farm Show Auditorium between Bangor and Pen Argyl. At this rally Jack Wyrzten will be the featured speaker. The programs are directly planned by a committee headed by Granville Jennings of Wind Gap.

Pioneer In FFA Work Retires

NEWFOUNDLAND — One of Pennsylvania's pioneers in the field of vocational agriculture has announced his retirement from the post of assistant supervisor of vocational agriculture in the Department of Public Instruction.

V. A. Martin, who has completed nearly 40 years in agriculture education in Pennsylvania, began his career in the field upon his graduation from Greene-Dreher High School, Newfoundland, in 1910. He taught for three years in Pike County, and in 1913, enrolled for the Spring and Summer term of Pecklomen Seminary, Pennsburg, Montgomery County, to prepare for entrance in Pennsylvania State College that Fall.

He became a teacher of agriculture at Montrose in 1917, having been graduated from Penn State. After six years at Montrose, he joined the State Council of Education as the first county supervisor of agriculture and was assigned to Allegheny County.

In 1925, he was appointed assistant State supervisor in the Department of Public Instruction, where he remained until this Fall. His duties included supervision of agriculture teaching in local high schools and assistance with the organization and conduct of the activities of chapters of Future Farmers of America. During his tenure, the FFA grew in Pennsylvania from one chapter in 1928 to 292 at the present time.

New Departments

More than 200 new departments of agriculture education at high schools in the State were organized and established during Martin's years of service. The record now stands at 300 such departments with an enrollment of more than 12,000 farm boys preparing for a career in farming.

Cooperation between parents and sons in the business of family-farms was stressed by Martin, who was a popular speaker at Parents and Sons banquets of the FFA. His humorous presentation of the problems paved the way toward careers in farming for many boys.

The vocational boys of his home community here have held a Father and Son banquet for 30 years, and Martin has a perfect attendance record.

While in state service, Martin assisted 130 candidates for the American Farmer Degree with the preparation of their application after making a personal visit to their homes. Every one of these young farmers was approved by the National FFA Advisory Council and received this degree at the national conventions at Kansas City.

Three of these boys were selected as the Star Farmer of America and each was awarded $1,000 by the National FFA Foundation. Several others attained Regional Star farmer honors and were awarded $500 each.

Martin devoted much time and effort to the building of good public relations between the FFA and farmer organizations and agricultural agencies, such as Soil Conservation Districts, Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives, Pennsylvania State Poultry Federation, Pennsylvania Potato Growers, the Guernsey, Ayrshire and Chester White Breeders' Associations in Pennsylvania, Interstate Milk Producers Association, Pennsylvania Electric Association, Pennsylvania Chain Store Council, and others.

From 1925 until this year he served as chairman of the Pennsylvania State Project Contest Committee and supervised the selection of the gold, silver and bronze medal winners in 26 different types of agricultural projects.

THE RECORD

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

BROTHER, we've got quite a collection of football teams in the Stroudsburgs. With East Stroudsburg State Teachers College boasting a 3-0 record and East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg highs owning 3-1 logs each, grid diehards of the two boroughs can make talk with anyone on the comparative merits of the three elevens.

Eugene Martin's unbeaten and untied teachers' clan, one of only seven of the undefeated college teams in the state, showed the home folks for the first time what could be in store for future foes on the Warriors' slate.

The Martinmen, operating out of three different off-ense—short punt, single wing and double wing—displayed versatility and power when they tripped a good Shippensburg team, 13-0, Saturday.

With no less than five players turning to passing the pigskin, coupled with power runners in the persons of Guido (Geets) DiTorrice, Dick Merring and Denny Roth, and breakaway stylist Dick Bleam, the Warriors are headed for one of the school's finest seasons in years.

Martin has all the assets this year, a well-rounded attack and a stubborn defense. Forward wall specialists Frank Krystiniak, and Al Hoffman, all-state material in any state, and aggressive hard working Co-Captain John Andrews; Warren Davis, the diagonal; and Stan Scarfass, John Martino, Ed Adams, Walt Bjorn, all who are really rough in the clutch give the Warriors something a good deal near the word impregnable.

Shippensburg's backs gained ground Saturday, but only within the two 20-yard lines. After they reached this "final protective" line, the Raiders were turned quickly into a defensive eleven.

Stroudsburg High, which was short on defense against Palmer, two weeks ago, returned to the form expected of them against Pen Argyl.

The Mountaineers line crew held the Green Wave in check as Rudy Prenz's boys could only penetrate to the locals 30 all afternoon. Even this slight dent was long in coming as Pen Argyl had to wait until the final minutes to make its one and only surge.

When you have the likes of roaming linebacker Larry Buzzard stopping or forcing the opening backs to make the wrong moves, others on the forward wall are bound to pick up the leadership. Buzzard could be the boy to spark the Mountaineers to greater heights as the Whiteheads get ready for a strong competition with the six remaining foes.

Maybe the Mountaineers got over the hump last Saturday when they got by Pen Argyl. There is no doubt they met a fighting, victory-hungry Green Wave, and with the way Whiteheads' boys performed, the score doesn't tell all triumphs will come a little easier.

Like everything else there is a turning point in football and we feel the Mountaineers started a turn for the better by coming out on top at Weona Park.

Jack Kist's East Stroudsburg High eleven had to exhibit that stuff which determines men from boys. The Cavaliers had to come from behind, and this they did as a hitherto unknown, starting-wise that is, back came to the front to pace the Kistmen to the comeback win.

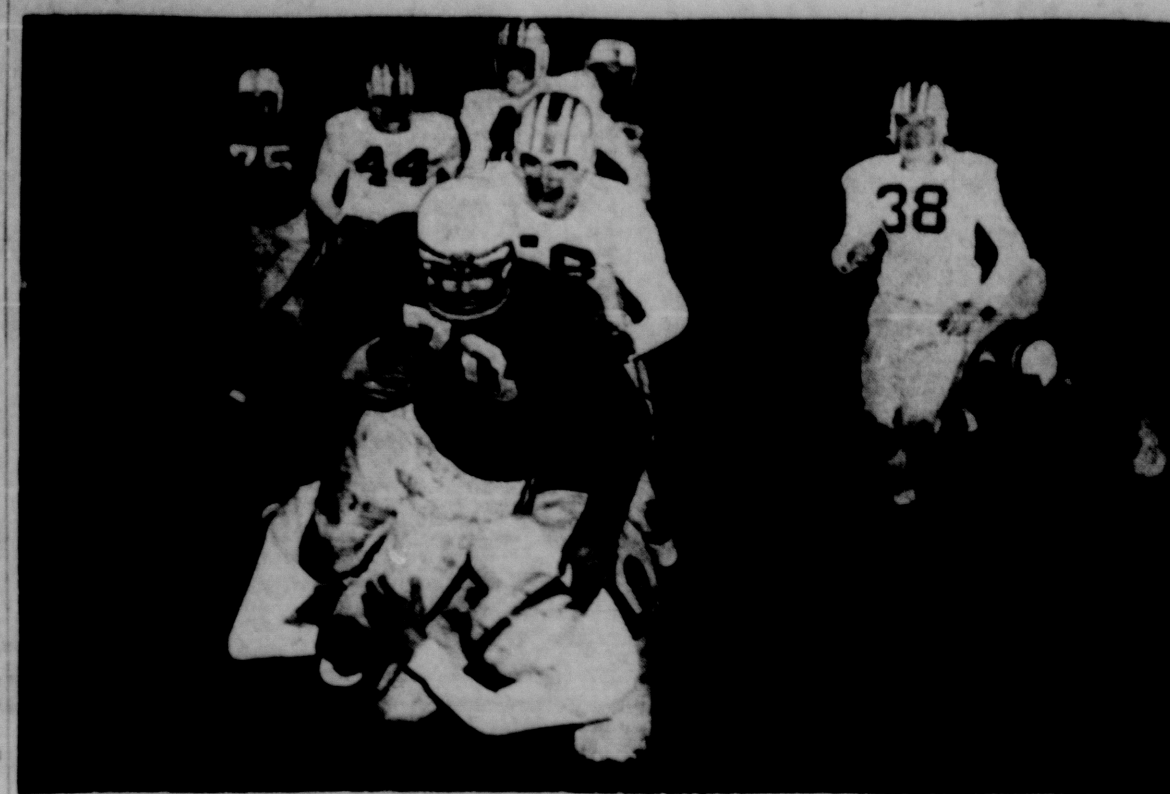

The youngster, Don Miller, put on a show in the fourth period that would make any back in the nation envious. And like any Frank Merriwell novel, Miller, after leading the drive, crossed the goal line with what proved to be the winning TD.

East Stroudsburg had their hands full as Leighton, the vanquished, displayed much better team balance than the same Indian eleven that went down to a 25-0 setback at the hands of Stroudsburg in both teams opener.

In Russ Jacoby, Leighton had a weapon that could and did move back the Cavalier forward wall. But in the end it was Miller and his hole-opening mates who snatched victory away from defeat.

The three LOCALS will be on the tracks this weekend again with Stroudsburg entertaining a rebounding Ranger High at Giffels Field, Friday night; East Stroudsburg hosting Parkland Saturday under the lights at Memorial Stadium; and East Stroudsburg Teachers traveling to Lock Haven Saturday afternoon to meet the unbeaten Avalanche.

BUTTONY-BUTTON WHO'LL GET THE BALL—Nobody did as the pass intended for East Stroudsburg State Teacher's Jim Oplinger (11) eventually went turward following a tap from Shippensburg's Jack Conner (42) at Normal Hill Saturday. Prior to this, however, Oplinger caught two aerials for TDs. Warriors won, 13-0.

'Nearly Fainted' -- Larsen

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—I was so weak in the knees out there in the ninth inning, I thought I was going to faint."

Big Don Larsen, admittedly "in a daze," said he also mumbled a little prayer for help before he finally completed his perfect no-hit, no-run, no-man-to-first game against the Dodgers in the fifth World Series game.

Larsen said he realized in the seventh inning that he had a no-hitter going, but added: "I didn't get nervous—my main object was to win the game."

Felt Impact
Then, he said, came the ninth, and he felt the full impact of his performance.

"The thing I wanted to do was get out of the ninth inning," he said. "Once I mumbled a little prayer to myself, I said, 'Please help me get through this.'"

The towering right-hander from San Diego, Calif., said nobody on the Yankee bench mentioned that he had a perfect game going.

"The only word said to me was by Yogi Berra," Larsen said. "Yogi hit me in the seat of the pants and said, 'Go out there and let's get the first batter.'"

Yankee Bedlam
The Yankee dressing room—the dressing room of the "old pros"—was bedlam for the first time during the series.

Yogi grabbed Larsen around the neck, Mickey Mantle, normally quiet and retiring, let out a resounding war whoop. Andy Carey, who made a beautiful play to help save the game, jumped around the room, yelling loudly.

"Beautiful, beautiful," said Casey Stengel, the Yankee manager, his crossed face breaking into a broad smile. "This kid is a good pitcher."

Gives Credit
Walter O'Malley, the president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, came in. "You beat us and I'm not happy about that," he said, elbowing his way through the crowd around the beaming pitcher. "I have to congratulate you. Do me a favor will you? Sign this ball."

Larsen, who came to the Yankees in December, 1954, as a minor part of the 18-player deal with Yankees Bob Turley, said Berra's crafty signal-calling and the Yankees' fine defensive play deserve equal credit for his feat.

"I was pitching fast balls and sliders mostly," he said. "But mainly I had pretty good control. I only shook off a couple of Yogi's signals, but he stuck with them, so I went ahead and pitched what he called, 'I'm glad of it.'"

The 6-4, 225-pound Californian, said his heart sank when Sandy Amoros, the Brooklyn leftfielder, hit that shot in the fifth inning which went foul by inches into the right-field stands.

"I thought sure he had it," Don said. "And I also thought Duke Snider's long foul in the fourth might have gone in. I was relieved when the umps motioned 'foul.'"

Praises Carey
Larsen was lavish in his praise of third-baseman Andy Carey, who before today had been the "goat" of the series with fielding errors and impotence at bat.

"That was a great stop Andy made on Jackie Robinson's hot liner in the second inning," he said. "And he made a beautiful play on Gil Hodges in the eighth. They saved the game for me. And also Mickey Mantle's fine running catch of Hodges' hard-hit ball to left center in the fifth."

When Larsen caught his breath, he said there was a bit of irony in Cary's helping him to his perfect pitching performance.

"In 1954, when I was with Baltimore, I had a no-hitter going against the Yankees until the eighth inning," he said. "And you know who spoiled it for me—that guy, Carey."

Known among his teammates as a Good-Time-Charley, the big right-hander said he didn't fret and worry last night about starting today's game.

"I drank a couple of beers and went to bed," he said. "What time?" somebody asked. "About midnight," Larsen replied.

Larsen's No-Hitter Wasn't First Seen By Old Casey

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—While Don Larsen was outside standing before almost as many klieg lights as a Hollywood star, New York Yankees' Manager Casey Stengel sat in his cubicle off to the side of the dressing room following the big right-hander's no-hit, 2-0 perfect game over the Brooklyn shaking his head in bewilderment. "Now, this isn't the first no-hitter I've seen," he said. "Remember I had Allie Reynolds when he threw one and I was over in the National League when that left-hander, what's his name (Johnny van Dusen), threw two in a row. During my playing days, I saw Rube Marquard throw one."

The Brooks used their "Boudreau Shift" against Mickey Mantle on the switcher's first two trips to the plate. They might just as well have all sat down for all the good it did the second time when he belted his home run.

Still, they talk about the Ebbets Field handkerchief. Mickey's homer was straight down the right-field line. He got a single on the same kind of hit in Flatbush on Friday.

Mantle was trying all the while to hit to left to cross up the shift and he did in the first, but it was a soft fly to Sandy Amoros in left field. Mantle kicked second base in disgust on the way out to his position. While you can't beat a no-hitter, the score might very well have been 1-0 if Sandy Amoros had fielded Hank Bauer's single cleanly in the sixth.

Andy Carey, who was on second base, had not even gotten to third when Sandy picked up the ball. But Sandy bobbled it momentarily and Carey got home. The consensus was that Carey was a dead duck if Sandy had made the play.

Brook pitcher Sal Maglie looked ready to throw a couple of games. He wasn't even warmed up. Every time a batter would linger getting to the plate, he'd begin throwing to catcher Roy Campanella. Jackie Robinson, the Brook third baseman, got most of the hoot calls of the day in the eighth when he tried to rattle Larsen by strolling out of the batter's box with two strikes on him.

Umpire Bane Pinelli, who handled the balls and strikes, showed no ill effects of being hit by a line drive off Gil McDougald's bat yesterday. "I'm an old fighter," grinned the veteran arbiter, "and I can take it in the stomach."

But it was Del Webb the Yanks' co-owner who had the best crack. After the game, the usually dignified Webb stuck his head in Stengel's office and shouted at the top of his lungs: "Hey, Case, you started the wrong pitcher today."

Bickford In '50 Last No-Hitter
NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—Don Larsen's no-hitter against the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series today was the first against a Brooklyn team in more than six years, or more than 1,000 games.

The last pitcher to stop the power-hitting Brooks without a safety was right-hander Vern Bickford of the Boston Braves in a night game on Aug. 11, 1950. The Braves won the game, 7-0.

Bevens Applauds
SALEM, Ore., Oct. 8 (AP)—Floyd (Bill) Bevens, who came within one out of pitching a no-hitter in the 1947 World Series, today applauded Don Larsen's no-hit, no-run game.

"It was wonderful," said Bevens after watching Larsen's feat on television.

"Larsen pitched a lot better game than I did," said Bevens, now a salesman for a trucking firm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—It couldn't possibly happen.

A no-hitter, yes. But a perfect game in World Series competition, well, the idea was preposterous.

Yet here was a tall, 27-year-old young fellow named Don Larsen standing out there, and almost methodically setting down the Brooklyn hitters in a ball game that could not be surpassed for sustained tension, a tension which became almost unbearable to the 64,519 spectators in vast Yankee Stadium today.

Until the seventh inning the fans were mildly hopeful the big guy out there might continue pitching as he had been pitching.

The big fellow got through the seventh without incident, and after that you almost could hear the sputtering of the electricity in the stands. Every pitch was the pitch. Now it surely would happen.

On Powder Keg
The fans by now were sitting on a powder keg, with the fuse lighted. Every pitch brought an explosive gasp from the crowd, followed by a nervous, incomprehensible babbling which seemed to sweep through the stands in rolling waves.

Then the spectators would edge forward again in their seats, breathing softly as if something they might do would break the spell.

Larsen got through the eighth inning unscathed.

Toughest Ahead
The toughest part of the job lay ahead. Three outs to go, always the toughest. The veteran baseball writers, case-hardened over the years, looked at each other and shrugged or smiled wanly. They were remembering Bill Bevens in that bid for a no-hitter in Brooklyn which was ruined by a double with two down in the ninth.

Kunkletown Boy Enjoys Perfect Mark

KUNKLETOWN—A 16-year-old Kunkletown boy won unusual honors Saturday in the 36-county 4-H Club tractor driving contest held at Pennsylvania State University.

William R. Altomose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Altomose, was awarded a gold achievement pin for being the only contestant to complete the operating phase of the contest with a perfect score. The pin was awarded to him at a luncheon which followed the meet. Young Altomose placed second to Eugene Moser, Barto, Montgomery County, in the entire contest and won the right to compete in the state-wide contest in January at the State Farm Show. The winner there will represent Pennsylvania in the National 4-H tractor driving contest in Virginia next year.

Previous Wins

Each of the 36 contestants had previously won a county contest. Altomose had placed first in competition at the West End Fair in August.

A state-wide contest consists of a written examination covering all parts of the tractor, a troubleshooting test, actual operation of a tractor attached to a manure spreader, driving through an obstacle course and belting a tractor to a machine. Safety is an important consideration throughout the contest, according to Assistant County Farm Agent Robert Stauffer, who accompanied Altomose to University Park.

Moser, Altomose and three others will represent the 36 counties in the state meet. Two alternates, including Elwood Buss, Nazareth RD 1, also were selected.
